PREFACE

This book is organized into PARTS and most PARTS include CHAPTERS. PART 1 covers PETER SMITH of Westmoreland County, Virginia while PARTS 2, 3 and 4 cover three of Peter's sons, - WILLIAM, JAMES and THOMAS - who moved to Prince William and Fairfax Counties, Virginia. Where a significant amount of material is presented on the children of these three sons, that material is reflected in CHAPTERS under the respective PARTS. Information on Peter Smith's other children is included in PART 1.

PART 2, covering Peter's son WILLIAM*, includes information on William as well as that of his sons -* Hancock, James and William - who moved to Spartanburg District, South Carolina. William moved on to Jackson County, Georgia. This Part then traces his descendants that moved from Georgia on to Massac county, Illinois. Some of this information is based on material developed by Mrs. Belva A. Smith Martin of Murphysboro, Illinois.

PART 3, covering Peter's son JAMES*, is made up mostly of information on James' son -* Peter*. This Peter moved to Caswell County, North Carolina and some of his descendants migrated to Kentucky, Alabama, and other locations. Much of this information is based on the book, Peter Smith, Some of His Virginia, North Carolina and Kentucky Descendants by Miss Pearl Smith of Marion, Kentucky. Some information is included on James' sons -* Presley Smith who moved to Washington County, Kentucky, and William Bailey Smith who moved to Daviess County, Kentucky.

PART 4, covering Peter's son THOMAS*, includes substantial information on several of Thomas' sons and their descendants, i.e.,* Charles Smith, Daniel Smith, Peter Smith, James Smith, and Fleming Smith*. Except for* Daniel Smith, these sons, as well as sons Thomas and John Smith, moved to Spartanburg District, South Carolina prior to or during the Revolutionary War. Fleming moved on to Kentucky and various descendants of the other sons moved to Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama and other locations. Thomas' son, Daniel, moved to Henry County, Virginia. While many of Daniel's descendants remained in Henry and surrounding Virginia counties, some descendants moved to Kentucky and then onto Greene County, Illinois. Information in this part is based upon research by the authors and the two volumes: A Smith Family - Pioneers of the South, by Mr. Wilmer Lane Smith of Springfield, Virginia (now living in Port Charlotte, Florida); and, To Know One Another (Some Virginia Smiths-1738-1985), by Mrs. Arnette Smith Cobb of Glax, Virginia.

While each PART or CHAPTER includes information on the names, marriage, birth and death records of various individuals, Descendant Charts include those individuals cited as well as information on more current generations, up to the present time. The Descendant Chart in PART 1 is a three generation chart of Peter Smith. The Descendant Chart in PART 2 includes all known descendants of William Smith. The Chart in PART 3 covers known descendants of James Smith. Since there are so many known descendants of Thomas Smith, his descendants are shown in Charts under CHAPTERS 4-1 through 4-5.

INTRODUCTION

Essentially this volume is a parentela (the sum of those persons who trace decent from one ancestor) of PETER SMITH, JR. of Westmoreland County, Virginia - an expression of that inner dimension of the yeomanry that has made America. In a sense, this is a cursory review of the history of the American South and Midwest in microcosm seen via the reflection of both the tribulations and the successes of one family whose vicissitudes mirror that of the American experience. This all epitomizes the evident credo that represents the totality of our history in America - covenant with God and community.

For six or more generations, from our progenitor Peter Smith, Sr. of 1651 through: Parmalee Smith of Talladega County, Alabama; Daniel and Stephen Smith of Greene County, Illinois; Gabriel Smith of Carroll County, Virginia; George R. Smith of Posey County, Indiana; John Everett Vaught Smith of Ohio County, Kentucky; John Smith of Crawford County, Kansas; George Hancock Smith of Massac County, Illinois; Enoch Smith of Hopkins County, Texas; and many others, this pioneer lineage found its identity on the Southern and Midwestern frontier - paradoxically with its individual self-reliance and yet an overwhelming sense of family and community, all underscored by our Christian faith. These are the elements that stand out after some 345 years.

From the first disembarkation on Virginia's Northern Neck, through the then untamed wilderness of the area surrounding both the Occoquan River and Bull Run Creek, to the virgin forests of the Carolina Up-County and Kentucky, and ultimately to the opportunities afforded with the openings of the new lands of Georgia, Alabama and the midwestern states, and from service in sundry Indian Wars, near total Smith family participation in the War of Independence, through the tragedy of The War Between the States, our ancestors were unequivocally committed to their guiding principles. These men and women lived as they believed - they respected the rights of others, and expected others to respect their rights, whether community or personal. They never hesitated to forthrightly stand firm when they perceived an infringement of those rights.

It behooves us not to critically analyze or judge them by the politically correct facile nostrums currently in vogue, but rather to reach out to understand and appreciate them within the framework of the principles that guided and motivated their actions - the cosmos as they comprehended it.

From the fading and disintegrating documents of time, we can all hold pride in what emerges in this family history - faith in God, frontier individualism, and love of family - Bible, musket, and kin.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This book, Peter Smith of Westmoreland County, Virginia (Died 1741) and Some Descendants, is the fourth book known by the authors to be written on this particular SMITH family. It, however, covers a broader aspect of the family than the other books which trace only a given descendant line. It includes information obtained from original research by the authors, and by many other Smith descendants as well as that drawn from the other books. It presents, in one document, all substantive information that the authors have been able to collect on PETER SMITH and his descendants.

A substantial amount of the information contained herein is based on the books: A Smith Family - Pioneers of the South, by Mr. Wilmer Lane Smith of Springfield, Virginia; Peter Smith, Some of His Virginia, North Carolina, and Kentucky Descendants by Miss Pearl O. Smith of Marion, Kentucky; and, To Know One Another-Some Virginia Smiths-1738-1985, by Mrs. Arnette Smith Cobb of Glax, Virginia.

Other sources of significant amounts of information include but are not limited to:

(1) Information from a paper titled, "Peter Smith - Some of His Blackwell, Boggess, Fleming, McClanahan, Moore & Thomas Descendants," by Miss Joanna Fox of Drakesburg, Kentucky.

(2) Information supplied by Miss Opal Lea Morrow of Sarcoxie, Missouri. She supplied substantial information on Charles Smith of Spartanburg County, South Carolina and his daughter, Elizabeth, who married Robert Page, Jr. They moved to Hamilton County, Illinois.

(3) Extensive information developed on the Charles Smith family of Spartanburg, South Carolina, by Mrs. Cleora Koons Smith of Spartanburg and Laurens, South Carolina. Cleora is the wife of Allison Willis Smith (dec), Gr-Gr-Gr-Grandson of Charles and Catherine Rhodes Smith.

(4) Extensive information on the Fleming Smith family by Mrs. Jonetta F. Jones of Ocala, Florida. The information also covered Fleming's son, James Smith, who moved to Missouri and then to Kansas.

(5) Information obtained from Mr. Harry E. Dewey of Alton, Illinois on the John M. Smith family (son of Daniel Smith of Henry County, Virginia) who moved to Kentucky and then to Greene County, Illinois.

(6) Extensive information from Mrs. Joyce Smith McClellan, West Frankfort, Illinois, on descendants of Peter K. Smith who moved from Muhlenberg County, Kentucky to Posey County, Indiana, to Franklin County, Illinois and then to Williamson County, Illinois.

(7) Latter Day Saints Microfilm #0968751 which includes information developed by Belva Smith Martin on the descendants of William and Catherine Smith (Jackson County, Georgia) who moved to Massac County, Illinois.

(8) Information from Brian W. Broadaway of Macon, Georgia on Charles Smith's descendants who moved from Spartanburg County, South Carolina to Conway County, Arkansas.

(9) Information from Richard F. Smith of Fountain Valley, California on Charles Smith's descendants that moved to Marshall County, Tennessee and Carroll County, Arkansas.

(10) Information from Carroll T. Smith of Spartanburg, South Carolina on some descendants of Charles Smith.

(11) Information from Howard C. Smith of San Jose, California on his segment of the Smith Family that migrated from Franklin County, Illinois to Bear Lake, North Dakota and other locations.

Several other individuals not named here also provided information and the authors express their thanks to these individuals as well. A special thanks to Jeffery C. Smith, the son of Wilmer Smith, for his assistance in compiling the lengthy index.

While information contained herein includes most of Peter Smith's children, the book is directed primarily to three of his sons that moved from Westmoreland County to Fairfax and Prince William Counties, Virginia and their descendants who migrated to such places as: Henry and Carroll Counties, Virginia; Caswell County, North Carolina; Spartanburg and Union Counties, South Carolina; Jackson, Henry and Fayette Counties, Georgia; several counties in Alabama; several counties in Tennessee; several counties in Kentucky; Crawford County, Kansas; Pulaski and Jasper Counties, Missouri; Carroll and Conway Counties, Arkansas; Posey County, Indiana; Greene, Franklin, Williamson, Hamilton and Massac Counties in Illinois; and Hopkins County, Texas. These migrations generally took place during the period 1740-1850. Descendants of these families are now, in 1996, scattered throughout the United States.

PART 1 - PETER SMITH of Westmoreland County, VA (Died 1741)

Peter Smith was apparently born in Westmoreland County, Virginia, and died there in 1741. He was a planter. Tobacco was the cash crop in the Virginia Colony during that era. Although there are a number of records which cite his name, and he left a will which names all of his children, nonetheless, no record has surfaced indicating the date of his birth. Since there were several Smith families living in the southern part of Westmoreland County during the latter part of the 17th century, the lack of this vital record has led to some confusion as to the name of Peter's father. There was an elder Peter Smith living in Westmoreland County. It is difficult in some cases to determine which record pertains to the younger Peter Smith who died in 1741. The elder Peter Smith most likely was his father. However, the question concerning the paternity of Peter Smith (d.1741) will be covered later in this part.

Peter Smith had ten children. The name of his wife is not known although the name "Margarett" appears on a 1706 legal document with Peter. However, Margarett's relationship to Peter is not indicated. In all likelihood, Margaret was his spouse. Peter's wife died before he made his will on January 10, 1738. The names of his children, which are not necessarily in order of their birth, are:

-JOHN SMITH - died prior to 1738.
-ANN SMITH - died prior to 1738 - married HUGH THOMAS, JR.
-MARTHA SMITH - married WILLIAM McCLANNAHAN.
-ABIGAIL SMITH - married WILLIAM FLEMING.
-HANNAH SMITH - married a WARE.
-MARY SMITH - married JOHN FLEMING.
-PETER SMITH - died ca. April 1774 - married SARAH BAKER.
-WILLIAM SMITH - married LETTIS HANCOCK. (See PART 2.)
-JAMES SMITH - married Elizabeth. (See PART 3.)
-THOMAS SMITH - married ELIZABETH FLEMING. (See PART 4.)

Considerable information is known about the families of WILLIAM SMITH, JAMES SMITH and THOMAS SMITH. Therefore they will be covered in PARTS 2, 3 AND 4. Information on the other children of Peter Smith is included in this part.

FAMILY OF MARTHA SMITH AND WILLIAM McCLANNAHAN

Based on the ages of Martha's children, Martha must have been born between 1710 and 1715.

-THOMAS McCLANNAHAN, born ca. 1730 in Orange County, Virginia; died February 1809 in Bourbon County, Kentucky. Married MARGARET STROTHER, daughter of JOSEPH STROTHER.
-WILLIAM McCLANNAHAN, JR., born ca. 1732; died 1802 in Greenville County, South Carolina. Married ca. 1752/53 MARY MARSHALL, born 1738; died 1809; daughter of JOHN MARSHALL and ELIZABETH MARKHAM. William was a Baptist Minister. The McClannahan Cemetery on Cedar Lane Road (Route 183) in Greenville County was bulldozed and its remnants hauled away in 1974.[1]

-PETER McCLANNAHAN, born ca. 1734-5; died ca. 1775 in Westmoreland County, Virginia; married (?) BAILEY.
-JAMES McCLANNAHAN, born ca. 1735/6 Westmoreland County, died 1752 in Fauquier County, Virginia; married LETTICE MOONEY.
-JOHN McCLANNAHAN, born ca 1737, died ca 1795.
-MARTHA McCLANNAHAN, born ca 1738, married GARLAND MOORE.

FAMILY OF ABIGAIL SMITH AND WILLIAM FLEMING

William Fleming was born December 2, 1706 in Richmond County, Virginia. He was the son of ALEXANDER FLEMING and SARAH KENNEDY. The children of Abigail and William Fleming were:

-JOHN FLEMING, born ca. 1740 in Westmoreland County, died October 12, 1794 in Surry County, North Carolina; married MARY BETSEY FORD; married 2nd, December 25, 1776 in Henry County, Virginia, JANE HORD, born ca. 1757/8 in Louisa County, Virginia; died in Overton County, Tennessee; daughter of MORDECAI MILLER HORD and SARAH CARR.
-WILLIAM FLEMING, JR.
-ELIZABETH FLEMING, married THADDEUS JACKSON, died 1802 in Westmoreland County. Thaddeus was the son of CHRISTOPHER D. JACKSON and MAGDALENE DAMOURVEL.
-MARGARET (PEGGY) FLEMING, married RODHAM PRITCHETT.
-MARY FLEMING.

FAMILY OF PETER SMITH AND SARAH BAKER

Peter died ca. April 1774. His wife, Sarah, was the daughter of WILLIAM BAKER and granddaughter of JOHN BAKER. Their children were:

-JOHN SMITH.
-WILLIAM SMITH.
-PETER SMITH.
-MARTHA SMITH.
-DORCAS SMITH, married (?) NEALE.
-(?) SMITH, married (?) TURNER.

Three of Peter Smith's (d. 1741) children - Abigail, Mary and Thomas - married children of ALEXANDER FLEMING and SARAH KENNEDY FLEMING. Sarah was the daughter of JOHN KENNEDY (Kenny, Canady) and granddaughter of CORNELIUS CANNADAY and his wife SUSAN of St. Marys County, Maryland.

In 1709, Peter Smith of Westmoreland County obtained a warrant for 1160 acres of land in Stafford County, Virginia. He had the land surveyed and obtained a patent for it in 1712. The land lies along the north side of Bull Run Creek, south of Clifton, Virginia and between the existing town of Occoquan and the Manassas Battle Field Park. The land was in Prince William County when it was formed from Stafford County in 1731. When Fairfax County was formed from Prince William in 1742, the land was in Fairfax County. Bull Run Creek is the dividing line between Fairfax and Prince William Counties. A copy of the recorded patent is shown on pages 13 and 14; and the location of the land is shown on pages 15 and 16.

In the 1730s, Peter's sons - William, James and Thomas - moved from Westmoreland County to the 1160 acres of land in Prince William County and made their homes there. When Peter died in 1741, each of these sons received 325 acres of the land with the remainder going to Peter's daughter and granddaughter. William and James' children were born there and they both died there in 1751, apparently at a young age since their children were still minors. Some of Thomas' children were born there. In 1749 Thomas sold his 325 acres and leased 133 acres of land across the creek in Prince William County. Thomas died in Prince William County in 1778.

Peter Smith of Westmoreland County made his will on January 10, 1738. It was probated on May 12, 1741. An inventory of his personal property was made and copies of these documents, as recorded in the Westmoreland County records, are shown on pages 17, 18 and 19. It is noted that Peter's inventory of personal property includes one yoke of oxen, two young steers, two heifers, a yearling and a cow and calf.

The remaining segment of this PART addresses the question of: Who was the father of Peter Smith of Westmoreland County, Virginia (Died 1741)?

The book, A Smith Family-Pioneers of the South, by Wilmer Lane Smith, states that the PROGENITOR of this Smith family was ROBERT SMITH of Westmoreland County. It also shows NICHOLAS SMITH as the son of ROBERT and, PETER SMITH of Westmoreland County (Died 1741) as the son of NICHOLAS. It traces the movement of Peter's son, THOMAS SMITH, from Westmoreland County to Fairfax and Prince William Counties; Thomas' son, PETER SMITH, to Spartanburg County, South Carolina prior to the Revolutionary War; Peter's son, PETER SMITH, JR. of Spartanburg to Henry County, Georgia and then on to Talladega County, Alabama in 1850.

The book, Colonial Virginians and Their Maryland Relatives - A Genealogy of the Tucker Family, by Norma Tucker, also shows the same family links, i.e. Robert to Nicholas, Nicholas to Peter, and Peter to Thomas.[2]

Since publication of Wilmer Lane Smith's book in 1991, the authors have done additional research and learned of research by others on this particular SMITH family. All the researchers agree that the Peter Smith of Westmoreland County, Virginia, who died in 1741 and who is discussed in the A SMITH FAMILY, is the early ancestor of this particular SMITH branch. However, several researchers think that this Peter Smith's father was another Peter Smith rather than Nicholas Smith as postulated in A Smith Family-Pioneers of the South and the book, Colonial Virginians and Their Maryland Relatives. The link between Nicholas Smith and Peter Smith (d. 1741) in Wilmer Smith's book was based on Nicholas' will of 1731 which listed sons named Nicholas, PETER, James and John. Nicholas' will was also witnessed by a Thomas Smith and we know that Peter Smith of Westmoreland (d. 1741) had a son named Thomas. We know of no other Thomas Smith contemporaneous with Peter and Nicholas. A copy of Nicholas Smith's will, as recorded in Westmoreland County records, is shown on page 20.

When writing the above book, the author, Wilmer L. Smith, knew there was another, older, Peter Smith in Westmoreland County but could find no link between the two. No will has been located for the earlier Peter Smith. It is believed that he died in 1693. A professional genealogist familiar with Westmoreland County records (and one whose books are cited as source material herein) has stated that some of the older County records were either lost or were badly deteriorated when they were transcribed to a new and more durable record, but, in his opinion, this Peter Smith is the father of our Peter Smith who died in 1741. The following is quoted from the correspondence of Mr. John Frederick Dorman dated December 27, 1991:

Mr. Richard Bender Abell
8209 Chancery Court
Alexandria, VA 22308

Dear Rick:

The copies of various pages from Pearl O. Smith's Peter Smith, Some of His Virginia, North Carolina, and Kentucky Descendants (revised ed.; Washington, 1991), Wilmer Lane Smith's A Smith Family, Pioneers of the South (Baltimore, 1991), and my letters written in 1976 to Louis H. Martin of Martinez, CA, have been received and I have reviewed the information contained in them.

We are told that Nicholas Smith left land to his son Peter but this comes only from a very brief abstract of Nicholas' will as published by Augusta Fothergill. Had a copy (or a more detailed abstract) been provided from the records of Westmoreland County we might know more about how much acreage this Peter received. The abstract indicates that Nicholas divided a single tract among his sons Nicholas, Peter and James but Mr. Smith has provided no information about the disposition of any of this land by any of these sons. The surviving records of Westmoreland County are much more complete and without apparent gaps by the time these sons would have been disposing of their inheritance by deed, will or intestate succession, yet nothing is provided to give any time to this crucial factor in supporting Mr. Smith's contention.... He [Mr. Smith] would have found the deed recorded in Westmoreland County Deeds & Wills 13, pp. 154-155a, whereby Peter Smith and Elender his wife of Cople Parish on 3 November 29 George III (1756) sold to Robert Moore 41 acres, being part of a tract whereon Nicholas Smith formerly lived, adjoining the land of John Baleys, deceased. This is Nicholas', son Peter, who was living some fifteen years after your (and his) Peter Smith died in 1741.

My own research for Mr. Martin shows that in 1769 Peter Smith, Sr. (III) conveyed to his son Peter 60 acres, part of land formerly purchased of George Searles (Westmoreland Co. Deeds & Wills 15, p. 37). The deed whereby this land was purchased has not survived but there is entered in the court orders of 22 Feb. 1692/3 the relinquishment of dower of Eliza., wife of George Searles, in about 60 acres on the branches of Nominy conveyed by her husband to Peter Smith (Order Bk. 1690-98, p. 89). Given the absence of any other record of a sale from Searles to Smith and the mention of 60 acres in both records, I find it hard to believe that the two records do not concern the same land.

The grant of 70 acres to Peter Smith on 10 Oct. 1692 (Northern Neck Grants, v. 1, pp. 190-91) adjoined land of Richard Searles and land whereon Peter Smith was then resident according to the survey made on 20 April 1686 and the records show that Richard Searles died before 1692 and that George Searles was his heir.

If Peter Smith was already a landowner in 1686, I do not see how he can be identical with Nicholas Smith's son Peter. Nicholas was still a minor orphan on 28 Aug. 1678 (Westmoreland Co. Order Bk. 1675/6-1688/9, p. 131)...

Although I do not remember any of the circumstances connected with my research for Mr. Martin and had, in fact, forgotten that I had investigated the Peter Smith question, a review of my rough notes made at the time indicates to me that I made a extensive search. I feel entirely confident of the correctness of the analysis which I made, with, of course, the caveat that there are many missing records and those which survive are in many instances later copies...

The loss of records makes it difficult to determine whether the Peter Smith named in the 1670s is the Peter Smith who died in 1741 or an elder Peter. Unless Peter (died 1741) was a very old man (I found nothing to indicate an age at any period of his life) it would be reasonable to conclude two generations are involved and this is borne out by the reference to Peter Smith, Sr., on 29 July 1691 in the proving of George Lankin's will (Order Bk. 1690-98, p. 31a) and the grant from the Proprietors of the Northern Neck on 10 Oct. 1692 to Peter Smith, Jr. (Norther Neck Grants, v. 1, pp. 190-91). While I found nothing to prove conclusively the two Peters were father and son, they can at least be placed in the same general area of Westmoreland County and it seems entirely reasonable to conclude that the elder Peter was the father of at least three children, Vincent, James and Peter who came of age in the early 1680s.

Sincerely yours,
(signed)
Fred Dorman

Mr Dorman refers to correspondence to Mr. Lewis Martin in 1976. The correspondence, dated 28 July 1976 is show on pages 21 through 25.

An important question that arises after viewing the research of others is, when was Peter Smith of Westmoreland County (d. 1741), Virginia born? Since the authors knew that Nicholas became 21 years of age about 1678, it was believed that Peter (d. 1741) was born ca 1680. This seemed substantiated by indications that several of his children were born ca 1700 and later and many of his grandchildren being born in the 1740s and 1750s. Others, presumably including Mr. Dorman, think that Peter was born in the 1662 time period and some of his children born as early as ca. 1680. This might lead one to think that he may have been married twice since the birth span of his children could be as great as 35 years. Of course this is conjecture. The issue is further clouded by a 1684 land transaction to Peter Smith recorded in 1705 as listed below. Nonetheless, this seems to support the Dorman thesis. What truly confuses the matter is the indication of three contemporaneous Peter Smiths: Peter Sr. (d. ca 1693); his presumptive son, Peter Jr. (d. 1741); who also had a son Peter; and, Peter the son of Nicholas Smith.

In recognition of the thoughts of others who have researched this SMITH family, all the records pertaining to or mentioning the early Peter Smiths of Westmoreland County, are listed below.

While several researchers have concluded that the eldest Peter Smith is the father of Peter Smith of Westmoreland (d. 1741), the records are provided for the benefit of those who may want to pursue the matter further. It must be recognized however, that the lives of fathers and son overlap, time wise, so it is difficult in some cases to know which of the two Peters was involved with respect to a given record. Also, one difficulty in determining the relationships of these Smiths is that they (Robert, Nicholas, Peter, Peter (d. 1741) etc.) all lived in the same general area in the southern part of Westmoreland County and most all used the same names when naming their children, and in particular, their sons. No doubt this indicates commonality of ancestors and family. One of these records cites Peter as a Senior and one cites a Junior. Nonetheless, it is important to note that this does not necessarily mean that one was the father and the other the son. Seventeenth century custom utilized these terms both to indicate a father/son relationship and to establish age precedence amongst people of like names--whether they were related or not.

These records are listed as follows (Note: Spellings that follow are directly from the quoted source):

(24) 1769. 29 July 1769. Peter Smith, Senr., of Cople

Parish, Westmoreland County, to my loving son Peter Smith, Junr., of same. For love and affection. 60 acres whereon my son Peter Smith now lives, being part of land formerly purchased of George Searls ... [adjoining] land of the Honble. Robert Carter... Mr. Francis Wright, Mrs. Eliz: Mcfarland and Capt. Ben. Middleton ...the branch and valley to be the division between said land and the land where I now dwell. Signed: Peter Smith. Witnesses: Jas. Baley, William Smith, Haraway [?] (X) Jackson. 29 Aug. 1769. Proved. [This Peter Smith, Senr., is apparently the son of Peter Smith (died 1741).The description of the land is similar to that listed under item (12) above.[26] [Emphasis added].

We know by the will of Nicholas Smith that he had a son named Peter. However, the land sale by Peter Smith and his wife Elender, as listed under item 23 above, indicates that Nicholas' son Peter was still alive in 1756 while we know that the Peter Smith, our proven ancestor, had died in 1741.

Although one cannot be positive, it appears that of the above records, items (1) through (6) and (10) involve the elder Peter Smith. Items (7) through (22), except (10) involve Peter Smith (died 1741). Item (23) involves Peter Smith the son of Nicholas Smith and item (24) involves the son and grandson of Peter Smith (died 1741).

Thus, considering the totality of the extant records, the preponderance of the evidence is that Peter Smith (died 1741) was the son of Peter Smith, Sr. (died ca 1693 who arrived in the Colony of Virginia in 1651).

DORMAN'S LETTER TO LOUIS MARTIN-28 JULY 1976

28 July 1976

Mr. Louis H. Martin
Box 2336
Martinez, California 94553

Dear Mr. Martin:

The loss of so many of the records of Westmoreland County, Virginia, prior to 1700 makes it difficult to establish some relationships conclusively but I believe that it can be demonstrated that your Peter Smith who died testate in 1741 was the son of the earlier Peter Smith who received a patent for 500 acres in Potomac freshes adjoining Col. Speake and Gosnell's land on 15 July 1657 (Nell M. Nugent, CAVALIERS AND PIONEERS [Richmond, 1934], p. 351).

Peter Smith II in his 1730 will (proved 1741) left a small tract of 48 acres to his daughter Mary Fleming and the remainder of his Westmoreland County land to his son Peter III. The deed whereby Mary's son Alexander Fleming sold this 48 acres does not recite the title to that land but by tracing the land holdings of the son Peter we can establish the earlier period.

The following deed is particularly important:

> 29 July 1769. Peter Smith, Senr., of Cople Parish, Westmoreland County, to my loving son Peter Smith, Junr. of same. For love and affection. 60 acres whereon my son Peter Smith now lives, being part of land formerly purchased of George Searls ... [adjoining] land of the Honble. Robert Carter ... Mr. Francis Wright, Mrs. Eliz: McFarland and Capt. Benj. Middleton ... the branch and valley to be the division between said land and the land whereon I now dwell.

> 29 Aug. 1769. Proved.
> (Westmoreland Co., Va., Deeds & Wills 15, p. 37)

We know from Westmoreland County Order Book 1690-98, p. 89, that on 22 Feb. 1692/3 Eliza. the wife of George Searles relinquished her dower in about 60 acres on the branches of Nominy conveyed by her husband to Peter Smith by indenture 21 Feb. 1691 [1692] and (p.96) that George Searles acknowledged this deed to Peter Smith on 31 May 1693. Almost all of the early record books of Westmoreland County are copies and when these copies were made the original books were destroyed. In many cases the originals must have been in very bad condition before they were copied because there are gaps in the records. It appears that the scribes transcribed only records relating to land but even so there are deeds which are missing now. The deed from Searles to Smith is one of these.

I could not identify with any certainty the other land which Peter Smith (died 1741) held and passed on to his son Peter. The son is the Peter Smith, Sr., III who left a will dated 1 April 1774 and proved in June and Aug. 1774 (Westmoreland Co., Va., Deeds & Wills 16, p. 398) in which he left to his son John the plantation whereon he [the testator] lived binding on the branch between that and son Peter Smith's land and to his grandson Peter Smith the plantation whereon he [the grandson] lived adjoining the land given to John.

The grandson Peter appears to have been the son of James Smith, a deceased son of Peter (died 1774). Peter Smith, son of Peter (died 1774), made his will on 9 Aug. 1774 (Westmoreland Co., Va., Deeds & Wills 16, pp. 56-58) and mentions Sarah Smith, brother James' widow. On 10 Feb. 1694 Sarah Smith and Peter Smith of Westmoreland County (Deeds & Wills 19, pp. 46-47) sold to Ransdell Peirce a tract of 72 acres 27 poles in Cople Parish. This is obviously the widow Sarah Smith and her son Peter joining to convey land in which both had an interest, Sarah's possibly being only a dower right.

From the 1769 deed we know the 60 acres acquired from Searles [by Peter Smith, father of the seller] adjoined other land he owned and from the will we know this passed to John Smith and another adjoining tract passed to Peter Smith, son of James and Sarah. This brings us back to the 1692 land grant you have:

> 10 October 1692. Grant from Proprietor of the Northern Neck to Peter Smith, Jr., of 70 acres beginning nigh a valley which descends into a branch of Nominy river, by a path which leads to Mrs. Hull's quarter ... land of Richard Searle ... land of Mr. Middleton ... land whereon the said Peter Smith is now resident ... as by survey under the hand of Mr. John Haney, surveyor, dated 20 April 1686 and entry made in Mr. Secretary's Office 1 March 1686/7.
> Rights entered in Secretary's office 1 March 1686/7: Coveley Cannalon, Eliza. Davis.
> Survey of 20 April 1686 gives same description of the land.
> (Northern Neck Grants, v. 1, pp. 190-91)

Richard Searles was owner of adjoining property in 1686. From Westmoreland County Order Book 1690-98, p. 20, 25 March 1691, we know that Richard Searles was then dead. Westmoreland County Deeds & Wills No. 2, pp. 26-27a, in a record of 17 Dec. 1694 shows that George Searles was the heir at law of his deceased father Richard Searles. George Searles sold 60 acres to Peter Smith which the 1769 deed indicates had one boundary line as a branch and valley. The 1692 grant to Peter Smith, Jr., was at a valley which descends into a branch. I am inclined to believe strongly that the 72 acres 27 poles which Sarah and Peter Smith sold in 1794 is the 70 acres granted in 1692. If it is not, it is certainly adjoining, and would have to be "the land whereon the said Peter Smith is now resident" mentioned in the 1692 grant.

I would assume, however, that the "land whereon the said Peter Smith is now resident" would be the 100 acres in Nominy Forest which was conveyed to him by his brother James Smith on 15 June 1684 (Westmoreland Co., Va., Deeds & Wills 3, pp. 402-03).

You are aware that the use of Junior and Senior in the colonial period merely indicates that there were older and younger men of the same name, not that they were father and son. All of the records of Westmoreland County have now been published by me with the exception of Order Book 1675/6-1688/9. This volume of 700 pages is difficult to read but the basic names appearing in the entries appear in the marginal notations on each page. I read the entire list of these notations and also read in detail any of the entries which appeared to contain other names, particularly the jury lists which are entered from time to time. With one exception, to follow, I found no references to Peter Smith. If I ever prepare full abstracts of this volume something else might turn up but it would have taken days to decipher every word of every entry; as it was, it took a number of hours just to go down the marginal notations.

The one entry I found relating to Peter Smith was:

> 25 Feb. 1684/5. Peter Smith brother of the said Vincent Smith came into Co^rt and pray'd that hee might be admitted to prove his brother's nuncupative will and that he might have administration granted him with the will annexed, which said nuncupative will being proved in Co^rt by Morgan Williams, Robt. Voare and Katherine Williams, the Co^rt order that Peter Smith bee admitted to the administration ... (Westmoreland Co., Va., Order Book 1675/6-1688/9: p. 382)

This is a long court order which goes on to show that Stephen Baylye gave bond with Peter Smith for 15,000 pounds of tobacco as his security and that Richard Tydwell, Robert Bennett, John Baylie and Robert Smith were appointed to appraise the estate of Vincent Smith.

Peter Smith, Sr., was living as late as 29 July 1691 when he proved the will of George Lamkin (Order Book 1690-98, p. 31a). Nothing has been found to indicate when he died. He appears to have lived in the same vicinity as the Lamkin family and to have been associated with them. He was a member of the coroner's jury which investigated the death of John Lamkin (brother of George) on 26 Aug. 1677 (Deeds, Patents, Etc., 1665-77, pp. 339a-340) and was also on a coroner's jury, along with Vincent Cox, to investigate a death which occurred about a mile and a half from Robert Middleton's plantation, 15 April 1673 (ibid. p. 152a). He witnessed the deed dated 6 July 1677 from Vincent Cox to George Lamkin and the heirs of Lamkin's wife Hannah (ibid., pp. 155a-156).

The last mentioned deed suggests a close connection between Vincent Cox and Mrs. Hannah Lamkin. Since Peter Smith was associated with these families and since either he or Peter Smith, Jr., had a brother Vincent Smith, there is a chance they were all related in some way. Mrs. Hannah Lamkin by her second husband Samuel Damouvell had a daughter Elizabeth who married secondly Benjamin Middleton, a grandson of Robert Middleton. These families all lived in the same neighborhood. The fact that Peter Smith, Jr., had land in his 1692 grant (on a 1686 survey) adjoining Mr. Middleton, puts both him and Peter Smith, Sr., in the same area. While it cannot be proved from the extant records that they are father and son, there is good reason to presume they were.

One factor which disturbed me was the grant of 500 acres made to Peter Smith in 1657. I was unable to find anything further about this land to establish whether it could have been held by Peter Smith, Jr., or by his brother James Smith or by Vincent Smith. The matter was finally cleared up upon finding in Deeds, Patents, Etc., 1665-77, pp. 94a-95, the copy of a patent to Col. Nicholas Spencer for 500 acres described as formerly granted unto Peter Smith by patent 15 July 1657 and by him deserted.

I have not found any other reference to Vincent Smith, nor any references to James Smith which would be helpful in establishing ancestry.

The evidence clearly places Peter Smith (died 1741) in Westmoreland County as early as 15 June 1684. This is the first firm date we have but I am of the opinion he was the son of Peter Smith of 1657. It is not possible to determine which of the Peter Smiths named as headrights in earlier patents, if any, was the Peter of 1657. The most likely, however, would be the Peter Smith named in Thomas Thornbrough's patent of 700 acres (then in Northumberland County) on a branch issuing out of Nomini River (Nugent, op. cit., p. 212). This land, at least, was in the same general area where Peter Smith of 1657 lived, although, since headrights were bought and sold, there is no way of telling whether Thornbrough's Peter Smith was anywhere around what became Westmoreland County.

Although I have not been able to find definite proof, I hope that this information and my comments will be of interest.

With every good wish, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Fred Dorman

PART 4 - THOMAS SMITH (DIED 1778)

Thomas Smith, son of Peter Smith of Westmoreland County, Virginia (died 1741) was born and reared in the southern part of Westmoreland County. It is believed that his date of birth was between 1700 and 1710. This is based on the birth date of Elizabeth, his wife, and the birth of their children, the first of whom appears to have been born about 1740.

Thomas married ELIZABETH FLEMING of Richmond County, Virginia. Richmond County lies along the western side of Westmoreland County. Elizabeth, born February 18, 1710, was the daughter of ALEXANDER FLEMING and SARAH KENNEDY FLEMING.[1] Elizabeth's parents married in 1691. Elizabeth's mother, Sarah, was the daughter of JOHN KENNEDY of Rappahannock County.[2] Elizabeth's father, Alexander, died a few months after she was born.[3]

When Thomas' father, Peter Smith, made his will in 1738, Thomas and Elizabeth were living in Prince William County, Virginia on the 325 acres of land subsequently left to him in his father's will. This land was a part of the 1160 acres of land that Peter patented in 1712. When Fairfax County was formed from Prince William County in 1742, the land was in Fairfax County.

In 1747, Thomas sold his land to Daniel Jennings:

> THIS INDENTURE made the fourteenth day of April 1747 between Thomas Smith of Truro Parish in Fairfax County, planter, & Daniel Jenings of same ..., for the sum of one hundred pounds current money of Virginia ... sells 325 acres ... which Peter Smith, father of said Thomas, by his last will and testament dated the 10th day of January 1738, did give & bequeath unto his son, Thomas Smith ... being part of 1160 acres granted ... to Peter Smith bearing date 30th June 1712 which said 325 acres of land is where the said Thomas Smith now dwelleth at Bull run adjoining to the land of his Brother, James ... In presence of Robt. Wicklift, Leonard Dozer, Robt. Lindsy, James Smith, John X Cavener. Signed Thomas Smith. 21 July 1747 ... Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Smith relinquished her right of dower ...[4]

The same day Elizabeth relinquished her dower, Thomas borrowed five hundred pounds current Virginia money from Dan'l Jennings.[5] On 22 October 1747, Daniel Jennings paid Thomas the one hundred pounds for the 325 acres of land.[6]

In 1749, Thomas leased 133 acres of land for 99 years, across Bull Run Creek in Prince William County. The lease is shown on the following page.

THIS INDENTURE made this 22nd day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and forty nine Between Francis Watts of the County of Prince William of one part and Thomas Smith of the aforesaid County of the other part Witnesseth that said Francis Watts doth agree with said Thomas Smith for the Fee Rent of Five hundred pounds of tobacco doth Lease farme lett and make over to the said Thomas Smith a parcel of land for the space of Ninety nine years being in the County of Prince William on BULL RUN and bounded Beginning at a marked Beech thence South East to a Spanish Oke Corner tree thence No. East to BULL RUN thence up the said Run to the beginning the same containing One hundred and Thirty three acres of land and the said Thomas Smith doth agree to build a suffishen dwelling house and tobacco house and Corn house and to plant an Apple Orchid of one hundred and fifty trees and to keep them under good fence in good repare and not make wilfull waste of the Timber and the rent to become due on the twenty fifth day of December yearly after the first three years is compleated and not to be straneable until three months after same shall become dew and to be payed in one Note at some convenient Warehouse every year and the first rent to become dew the twenty fifth of December in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty one. As Witness I have set my hand and seale in presence of John Combs. Signed. Francis Watts.[7]

Thomas and Elizabeth had nine children. Their dates of birth are not necessarily in correct order:

-PETER SMITH - born ca 1740, married AGNES WILSON ca 1768. (SEE CHAPTER 4-1.)

-CHARLES SMITH - born 15 June 1742, died 7 April 1824, married CATHERINE RHODES. (SEE CHAPTER 4-2.)

-FLEMING SMITH - born 12 May 1745, died 22 August 1847, married PRUDENCE BLAND. (SEE CHAPTER 4-3.)

-DANIEL SMITH - born ca 1748, died ca 1811, married ELIZABETH REAVES. (SEE CHAPTER 4-4.)

-JAMES SMITH - born 9 Jun 1751, died 9 Nov 1840, married BETH PRESLEY. (SEE CHAPTER 4-5.)

-JOHN SMITH - born ca 1754. (SEE INFORMATION BELOW.)

-THOMAS SMITH - never married and died in Spartanburg County, South Carolina.

-(?) SMITH - married JOHN GIBBS. They lived in Spartanburg County, South Carolina.

-ELIZABETH SMITH - born ca 1755, married WILLIAM MARTIN CASTLE-

BERRY. They lived in Spartanburg County, South Carolina in 1790.

In 1766, Thomas, Elizabeth and other members of their family were part of a group of sixty-one people who moved their membership from the Broad Run Baptist Church in Fauquier County, Virginia to establish the Chappawamsic Baptist Church in Stafford County, Virginia. The Smith members of this group were:

Peter Smith	Fleming Smith	Catherine Smith
Charles Smith	Thomas Smith Senr.	Thomas Smith Jr.
John Smith	Daniel Smith	Elizabeth Smith

This indicates that Thomas, Elizabeth and six of their sons, as well as Charles' wife Catherine, were the Smiths involved.

In 1767, John Smith and Patience Smith became members of the Chappawamsic Church and, on May 21, 1768, Agnes Smith and Elizabeth Smith became members. Agnes Smith was the wife of Peter Smith and Elizabeth Smith was the youngest child of Thomas and Elizabeth. On June 4, 1767, James Smith and Ann Smith became members.[8] Thomas, Elizabeth and some members of their family apparently were members of the Chappawamsic Church for about eight to ten years.

In its early years, the congregation of the Chappawansic Church were persecuted by local individuals and groups. On one occasion a Robert Ashby and his gang of about 40 men came into the church to harass the church members during a service. He was bodily ejected but a bloody fray ensued. On one occasion a live snake was thrown into the church. Another time a hornets nest was tossed into the church. One time a group brought their guns in an attempt to disperse the worshipers. Soon after this, Robert Ashby cut his knee, it became infected and "he died in his own excrement." A man by the name of Charles Williams came to the church along with a group of individuals and threatened to shoot the minister. The gun was taken from him and a fight occurred between the male members of the church and the group.[9]

The Chappawamsic church site and a small cemetery are located on the Quantico Marine Base Reservation. Directions to the site: From Washington, DC, take I-95 south, toward Richmond for about 30 miles. At the Quantico Marine Base area, just south of the National Cemetery, exit onto Russell Road. Take a right on Russell Road (going west) and proceed about three miles to Marine Corp Base (MCB1) road to Upsur. Turn right onto MCB1 and proceed about 3/4 mile. There is an old dirt road on the right that angles back somewhat parallel with MCB1. The church site and cemetery are about 200 yards along that dirt road. Trees have been marked to indicate the location of the site. The road cannot be traversed by car. Portions of the church's foundation still exist. Co-author Richard Abell possesses one of the foundation bricks previously owned by Co-author Wilmer Smith. There are about 39 grave sites alongside and behind the church site. There are no headstones but some lots have metal fences around them. It appears that most of the remains have been removed to other cemeteries. The church stood for over 150 years, being torn down ca 1919. A picture of the church, made ca 1900, is shown below.

In 1766, Thomas, two of his sons, and other individuals petitioned the Virginia Legislature to establish a Baptist Church at Occoquan, Virginia, near their home. The Smiths listed in the petition were: Thos. Smith, James Smith and Charles Smith.[10]

Thomas died in Prince William County, where he lived, in 1778. He did not leave a will but an inventory and distribution of the estate is quite detailed in describing his possessions and naming his wife and children. An extract of Thomas' inventory and its distribution, as recorded in Price William County, Virginia Will Book "G", p. 18-19 is shown below:

Elizabeth Smith

It is not known where Thomas is buried in Prince William County. Most likely it is in the Occoquan area since the church was located there. Elizabeth apparently went to Spartanburg County, South Carolina since Charles sold his land in Prince William County and moved to Spartanburg County shortly after his father died. As indicated above, several of the brothers were already at Spartanburg. The 1790 Federal Census also shows William Martin Castleberry at Spartanburg so the daughter, Elizabeth, and her family no doubt moved to Spartanburg. Thomas and Elizabeth's daughter (name unknown) who married John Gibbs lived in Spartanburg County as well.

JOHN SMITH (Son of Thomas and Elizabeth Fleming Smith)

John moved to Spartanburg County, South Carolina along with his brothers. Very little is known about him except that shown in the book, History of Spartanburg County, CHAPTER XX, page 278, by Dr. J. B. O. Landrum, published in 1900. He states that John had three children - THOMAS SMITH, SUSANNA SMITH and an unnamed daughter who was crippled. Dr. Landrum states that Thomas went to Georgia and Susanna married THOMAS FINCH. Susanna and Thomas' children were: JAMES FINCH, BENJAMIN FINCH, SIMPSON FINCH and ENOCH FINCH.

The following Chapters cover all of Thomas and Elizabeth's sons except Thomas and John. Thomas lived in Spartanburg County, South Carolina but little is known about him since he never married.

PART 4-CHAPTER 4-1 - PETER SMITH (SON OF THOMAS SMITH)

Peter Smith was no doubt born in Prince William County, Virginia about 1740. While his age in unknown, he may have been one of the eldest of Thomas and Elizabeth's children. This supposition is based on his presumably being named after his grandfather. Inasmuch as Fairfax County was formed from Prince William County in 1742, Peter consequently lived his early years in Fairfax County. He grew to manhood in Prince William County since his father sold his 325 acres of land in 1749 and moved across Bull Run Creek to Prince William County.

The earliest record of Peter is his membership at the Chappawamsic Baptist Church in 1766. Records of a later date establish his wife's name as Agnes or Agatha. In 1768, Agnes Smith is shown as a member of this church. Therefore, Peter and Agnes must have married about that time. Of note, one of the foundation bricks of this church is currently being used as a door-stop by co-author Richard Abell.

There is strong evidence supporting the presumption that Agnes was the daughter of Henry Wilson. On May 1, 1778 Henry William Wilson of Prince William County, Virginia made his Last Will and Testament. With respect to the division of his property, the will states that he left his daughter - "Aggatha Smith a negro girl called Phillis." The will was proven on July 6, 1778.[1] Henry was a junior, his father, Henry Wilson, Sr. died in Richmond County, Virginia in 1737. Henry Jr. was the grandson of Elias Wilson of Richmond County, Virginia who died in 1699. After Peter and Agnes moved to Spartanburg, South Carolina, they sold land in 1803 to a Henry Smith. Subsequent Federal Census Records shows this to be Henry W. Smith. It is conjectured that Henry was one of Peter and Agnes' sons. Additionally, one of Peter and Agnes' grandsons, Logan Smith, named one of his sons Henry W. Smith. Their grandson Parmalee named one of his sons Wilson Smith.

In 1778, the distribution of Thomas' estate shows Peter in South Carolina along with brothers Daniel, Thomas and James. These brothers - particularly Peter, Thomas and James - appear to have moved to Spartanburg District, South Carolina just prior to or during the Revolutionary War. They were later joined by their brothers Fleming, John, and Charles. Charles moved to Spartanburg shortly after his father died in 1778. As shown in a subsequent Chapter, Daniel's family was living in Henry County, Virginia in 1778.

Peter and his brothers - as well as their first cousins, Hancock, James and William Smith - all participated in the American War of Independence. Several family members, to include Peter, fought in the battle of Cowpens, South Carolina, which was less than twenty miles from where they resided. Peter and several of his brothers were in the South Carolina Militia. They were under the command of Colonel Roebuck who also lived in the Spartanburg area.[2] See PART 5 for futher information on the Battle of Cowpens and our Smith ancestors.

While the war spanned the 1775-1783 time period, the fighting in the Southern states took place primarily between 1779 and 1782. After the fall of Charleston in 1780, most all of South Carolina and Georgia was subjugated to the British authority. However, those Americans who believed in freedom from British control rose to the occasion, fought gallantly, and became the patriots of our country. Many of the soldiers or militia men enlisted for short durations and returned home to care for their families. Most served several durations during the war. No record could be found where Peter applied for or received a pension for his military service. Neither was a record found where Agnes applied for a pension based on Peter's military service.

However, the Revolutionary War Records do contain several documents reflecting Peter's military service and other contributions he made to the war effort. In 1786, Peter filed a claim for "Militia duty since the fall of Charleston [1780] in Roebucks Regiment of Andersons Return [sic]." The claim was signed by Peter as well as his brother Thomas. Apparently Peter's brother, Fleming, collected the amount due since he signed for the receipt of the funds on behalf of Peter. A copy of this claim is shown at the end of this Chapter.

In 1783, Peter was issued an Indented Certificate, in the sum of Twelve Pounds Sterling, for One thousand, Two hundred and Eighty pounds of Flour. A copy of this Certificate is shown at the end of the Chapter. In 1785, Peter filed a claim for the rental of a horse, iron traces, hanes and bridle. He was paid in 1787.

In 1785, Peter received a grant from the state of South Carolina for land which lay along the Kelsey and Fairforest Creeks, a mile or so southeast of Spartanburg. The grant was for 270 acres.[3] A map of the Spartanburg, South Carolina area where Peter and several of his brothers lived is shown at the end of the Chapter.

The Smith family properties appear to have been in the area of what is today the west and southwest parts of Croft State Park and environs.

In 1787, Peter sold an unspecified amount of land to his cousin William Smith:

"Sept. 20, 1787 - Peter Smith (Spartanburg) and wife Agnes to William Smith (same); for 50£ sold [acres not given]; west of boundary run by Col. Philemon Waters for Peter Smith; Peter and William Smith were both granted some or all this land by mistake; border: William Smith, Hancock Smith; Fleming Smith: Witness Jas Lusk, Fleming Smith, and Josiah Culbertson. Signed Peter Smith and Agnes' mark."[4]

Also on Sept. 20, 1787, William Smith and his wife Catherine sold, to James Smith, 350 acres for 20£ sterling. This was part of the 640 acres granted to William by the state. A Court record related to these two land sales is as follows:

"Thursday the 20th of March 1788 - In the two sets of titles heretofore recorded from Peter Smith to William Smith and William Smith to James Smith (The privacy examination of Agnes Smith, wife of said Peter and Catherine wife of said William Smith) by the Court, who report they freely renounce their dower."[5]

The first Federal Census of the United States was taken in 1790. Shown below is Census information which lists Peter Smith as well as several of his neighbors who were also his brothers or cousins.

1790 FEDERAL CENSUS-UNITED STATES

State: South Carolina County: Spartanburg

James Smith Jun.	1		2
James Smith*	2	2	6
Wm Smith	1	3	5
Thomas Smith	1		1

* James Smith had 8 slaves

Peter's brother Thomas never married. Flemmon is Peter's brother Fleming Smith. The farms of these brothers or cousins joined each other or were in close proximity of each other. Other brothers or cousins lived nearby. As shown above, Peter and Agnes had four sons and one daughter living at home at this time.

In 1793, Peter Smith and Nevil Wayland were appointed to arbitrate a matter between David Hicks and Charles McCarter. This record is quoted as follows:

"At a Court of Sessions and pleas began and held at the Court House of Spartanburg on the 12th day of June 1793 ....
David Hicks against Charles McCarter. Attachment. Refered.
Our oppinion is from the Evidence and circumstances that the doctor return Mr. Hicks Horse or £10 sterling, and pay all charges as it is evident he did not attend his duty as he ought to do, and his hearing of Mr. Hick's being well is no apology for not going to see, as thereby he might be the better satisfied as to particulars as it really appears also from the last clause of the deposition that he did not care whether he did any more for Hicks or not.
The above is the award of us the underscribed, being duly appointed by the Honorable Court of Spartanburg to Arbitrate a certain matter in dispute between David Hicks and Charles McCarter. 19th of January 1793.

Nevil Wayland, Peter Smith."[6]

Also in 1793, Peter was ordered to oversee the building of a road. This record is quoted as follows:

"At an Intermediate Court began and Held at the Court House of Spartanburg County on the Second Monday in April 1793. Present his Honor William Smith, Esquire ...Ordered that Peter Smith oversee the Road from Captain James Smith's to the Shoals of Fairforest and the Inhabitants which are required by [sic] work thereon under his direction. Issued."[7]

In April 1793, Peter and Agnes sold some land to James Smith:

"April 8, 1793-Peter Smith and wife Agnes (Spartanburg) to James Smith (same); for 13£ sterling sold 12 ac SW side of Kilsoe's Cr: part of grant to Peter Smith (see Book 3Z p. 255); border: James Smith; plat attached. Witness Daniel White, James Allen and M. Lovina Smith. (Signed Peter Smith. Wit oath Apr. 8, 1793 Daniel White, David Goodlet). Rec. May 14, 1793."[8]

The Federal Census for 1800 shows the following families living near each other. This does not show all the Smith families living in the area:

1800 FEDERAL CENSUS-UNITED STATES

	Free White Males					Free White Females
	1	2	3	4	5	1	2	3	4	5

Peter Smith	1	1	1		1		1			1
Thomas Smith					1			2		1
William Smith*			1			2		1

* May be James' son

The numbers shown under Males and Females are defined as:
1 = Under 10 years of age 4 = 26 to 45 years of age
2 = 10 to 16 " " " 5 = 45 and Over
3 = 16 to 26 " " "

The above indicates that Peter and Agnes had three sons and one daughter living at home.

In 1803, Peter sold land to Henry Smith:

Mar. 29, 1803 Peter Smith (Spartanburg) to Henry Smith (same); for $50 sold 50 ac on Kelsoe's Cr of Fairforest Cr; where Henry Smith lives; part of grant Oct 15, 1785 by "state" to Peter Smith. Witness James Smith Jr. Signed Peter Smith. Certified Mar. 29, 1803 by William Simpson. Rec. Apr 30, 1803.[9] [Note: Henry Smith sold this land on Sept 27, 1804 to Henry Brown for $125. Henry's wife, Lydia gave up her dower].

In 1804, Peter sold land to James Harrison:

Feb. 21, 1804 Peter Smith (Spartanburg) to James Harrison (same); for $290 sold 130 ac on Fairforest and Kelsey's Creeks; border: Capt. James Smith, Hancock Smith, Bels or Belos, and Shands Golightly; part of 270 ac grant Oct. 15, 1784 Gov Benjamin Guerard to Peter Smith. Witness James Smith and Elijah Barnett. Signed Peter Smith. Wit. oath Mar. 27, 1804 Elijah Barnett to John Lipscomb.

Poor Contrast

Rec. Sept 14, 1804. Dower renounced Agatha Smith to William Lancastere Mar. 15, 1804.[10]

You will note that the above record shows Peter's wife as being Agatha. It is not known why some records show her name as Agatha and others show Agnes. Peter and some of his relatives lived near the Cedar Springs Baptist Church. Members of Cedar Springs Baptist Church mentioned in the church book 1794-1804 included Agatha Smith and Agnes Smith.[11] Most likely one of these was his daughter.

The Federal Census of 1810 shows Peter Smith still living in Spartanburg County. One son between the age of 16 and 26 was living with Peter and his wife. No subsequent records could be found on them.

The authors have only been able to verify one of Peter and Agnes' sons and that is PETER SMITH, JR. Other sons may have been HENRY W. SMITH and FLEMING SMITH. The 1810 Federal Census shows a Fleming Smith between the age of 26 and 45 living near Peter. It is known that this is not Peter's brother Fleming since he was living in Kentucky in 1810 and was older than 45 year of age. Peter Smith, Jr. is covered in the following subchapter.

PART 4-CHAPTER 4-2 - CHARLES SMITH (SON OF THOMAS SMITH)

Charles Smith, son of Thomas and Elizabeth Fleming Smith, was born June 15, 1742 in Prince William County, Virginia. Charles grew to manhood in Prince William County and remained there for the first thirty-six years of his life.

Charles married CATHERINE RHODES ca 1760. Catherine may have been the daughter of JOHN and ANN RHODES of Stafford County, Virginia. This supposition is based on the will of John Rhodes which was probated in Stafford County, Virginia on December 13, 1748. An excerpt from the will states, "And to my daughter Katherine I do give & bequeath one feather bed & furniture & one cow and calf to her & her heirs forever".[1]

The first record of Charles and Catherine is in 1766 where they, and other members of Charles' family, moved their membership in the Broad Run Baptist Church in Fauquier County, Virginia to establish the Chappawamsic Baptist Church in Stafford County, Virginia. (See PART 4 - THOMAS SMITH.)

In 1776, Charles, his father, brother James and other individuals living in this area, petitioned the Virginia Legislature to establish a Baptist Church at Occoquan, near their home.[2]

In 1778, Charles administered the settlement of his father's estate. Part of this responsibility included the disposal of the land his father had leased in 1749. A record of the sale of the lease is:

> *THIS INDENTURE made this twenty first day of October One thousand seven hundred and Seventy eight Between Charles Smith of County of Prince William and Commonwealth of Virginia, Admr. of all & singular the goods, chattels rights & credits of Thomas Smith deceased of the one part and Alexander Henderson of County of Fairfax & Commonwealth aforesd., Farmer, of other part. Charles had purchased 136 acres of land along Bull Run Creek in 1776. He sold this land to Alexander Henderson in September 1778. A synopsis of the record shows:

Charles Smith of Prince William County, farmer, and Catherine his wife to Alexander Henderson of Fairfax County for one hundred pounds current Virginia money, a certain tract of land in Prince William County in the fork of Bull Run and Occoquan, beginning at two white oaks, corner to John Duncan, thence south three degrees west fourteen poles to a white oak in a bottom in Edward Berry's line, thence with that line north twenty five degrees thirty mn. west 173 poles to box oak, white oak, red oak, on a hillside, thence north eighty degrees west 66 poles to a stake, then leaving said line north seventy-one degrees east thirty-six poles to the mouth of a branch and at Bull Run, thence down said run and binding therewith north thirty degrees east 17 poles to fallen beech, corner to Thomas Hooper, thence along said Hopper's line south 65 degrees east 121 poles to the intersection with Morris Veales line, thence along said Veales line south twenty-four degrees east two hundred twelve poles to a red oak by Foxes branch, opposite said Duncan's line, thence south eight-four degrees east 42 poles to a stake, corner to the said Duncan's line, thence with his line south twenty-five degrees west forty poles to a white oak on side of hill 40 poles from said run Occoquan, thence south sixty-two degrees west sixty-six poles to white oak in point of branch, thence north twenty-five degrees west 158 poles to beginning. The said tract of land granted by proprietor of Northern Neck to said Charles Smith by deed bearing date 19th day of October 1776, containing 136 acres and houses, buildings, orchards, woods...[4]

Charles and Catherine had several children before moving to the Spartanburg District in South Carolina. After arriving in South Carolina, Charles was a soldier in the South Carolina State Militia during the Revolutionary War. Because of defective eyesight, he was assigned to duty in the commissary department.[5] Charles filed claims for payment for such service in September 1786. He served in Roebuck's Regiment as did several of his brothers and cousins.[6] After the War, Charles was granted 400 acres of land on a branch of Fairforest Creek. The land was south of the present city of Spartanburg, near the existing Philadelphia Baptist Church.[7]

Charles was a man of eminent piety and a leader in two of the Baptist Churches in his neighborhood. During the 1790's Charles was a leader and deacon in the Cedar Springs Church and, a number of times, represented the church in annual Baptist Association Meetings. The Smith members of the Cedar Springs Church mentioned in the church book 1794-1804 were: Abigail Smith, Agatha Smith, Agnes Smith, Catherine Smith, Charles Smith, Cloe Smith, Cynthia Smith, Diana Smith, Elijah Smith, Elizabeth Smith, Fleming Smith and wife Prudence, John Smith, Margaret Smith and Peggy Smith.[8] The Philadelphia Baptist Church was formed in 1803 and Charles and other members of his family became members of that church. He was made a deacon in that church in 1805. From 1809 to 1820, the church had no regular pastor and Charles was the mainstay of the church during that period. A more detailed account of Charles' church activities can be found in The History and Genealogy of The Robert and Rachel Page Family (1750-1827), by Donald W. Page, Titusville, FL, pgs. 431-438, published by Genealogy Publishing Service, Franklin, NC 28734.

In 1804, Charles sold 45 acres of his land to Hugh White, his son-in-law, for $50.00.[9]

Charles and Catherine had 12 children. Their names are not necessarily listed in order of their birth:

-WILLIAM SMITH, born ca 1765 in Prince William County, Virginia, died 1804 in Spartanburg County, married SALLY TRAIL ca 1799. (MORE INFORMATION SHOWN IN SubChapter 4-2-1.)

PART 4-SubChapter 4-2-1 - WILLIAM SMITH (SON OF CHARLES)

William Smith, son of Charles and Catherine Rhodes Smith, was born in Prince William County, Virginia in the early 1760's. In 1778, William's parents moved to the Spartanburg District, South Carolina and William grew to manhood there.

As a young man, William and his brother, Sanford, established a gun factory on Reedy Fork of Dutchman's creek, about one and half miles south of the Philadelphia Baptist Church. The church is south of Spartanburg on Route 56. They manufactured rifles, made the barrel, bored and stocked them. The rifles were what was known as the old time flint and steel, which were much used in their day. The factory continued to make guns into the 1890's. A granite marker inside the Philadelphia Baptist Church yard facing highway 56 commemorates William and Sanford and the date they started the factory.[1]

About 1799, William married SARAH "SALLIE" TRAIL. They had three children - BARBARA SMITH, MARY ELIZABETH SMITH and FRANKLIN B. SMITH. In 1804, William died intestate leaving Sarah with three young children, Franklin being only two years old. William's brothers - Sanford and Elijah Smith and Hugh White were appointed to administer his estate.

Subsequently, Sarah married JAMES MOORE and they, with the help of Sanford Smith, reared and educated the three children. During that era children were considered orphans even though the mother was still living. In administering William's estate, Sanford paid James Moore for the cost of sending the children to school after Sarah married Moore. Prior to 1819, Barbara married ISAAC COMPTON. In 1819, the Ordinary Court of Spartanburg appointed guardians for Franklin and Elizabeth. The Court chose Isaac Compton, Barbara's husband, to be Franklin's guardian. It chose James Moore to be guardian to Elizabeth.[2]

In 1819, Isaac and Barbara Compton, taking Franklin with them, moved to Giles County, Tennessee. Elizabeth stayed behind with her mother and step-father.

In 1826, Barbara and Franklin gave their step-father power of attorney to sell the land their grandfather, Charles Smith, had left them:

> May 12, 1826 - Isaac Compton and wife Barbary (formerly Barbary Smith) and Franklin Smith (Giles Co. Tenn) to James Moore (Spartanburg); power of attorney to sell land that came to Barbary and Franklin Smith by will of Charles Smith deceased (Spartanburg); on waters of Fairforest Cr; part of where Charles

Smith lived. Witness none. Signed Isaac Compton, Barbary Compton, and Franklin Smith. Certified May 13, 1826 by John B. Armstrong and John Laird. May 15, 1826 (Giles Co. Tenn) German Lester, clerk of Quarterly Sessions Court, certifies John B. Armstrong and John Laird are justices of peace. Jun. 8 1826 (Giles Co, Tenn) Edward D. Jones, JP of Quarterly Sessions Court, certify German Lester is Clerk. Rec. Sept. 4, 1826.[3]

The land was sold a few months later:

Aug. 22, 1826 - Elizabeth Smith, James Moore (attorney for Isaac Compton) and wife Barbara, late Barbara Smith, and Franklin Smith (Giles Co, Tenn) (but we "we both" of Spartanburg) to Andrew Huffman (Spartanburgh); for $153.50 sold 100 ac on waters of Ferguson Cr; border: Henry White and Hervey Lancaster; part of grant in 1785 to Charles Smith and by his will given to children of his son William Smith desc, who are Barbara Compton, Elizabeth Smith, and Franklin Smith. Witness John Murph and John A (?) Smith. Signed Elizabeth Smith and James Moore. Wit. oath Aug. 22, 1826, John Murph to D. White Rec. Aug. 23, 1827.[4]

On October 25, 1827, Elizabeth Smith married GILES BEARDEN. They remained in Spartanburg County all their lives and are buried across the street from Friendship Church in the church cemetery. They had eleven children but one was still born. In 1859, Elizabeth wrote a letter to her sister and brother (Barbara Compton and Franklin Smith) in Tennessee:

June 17, 1859

Elizabeth Bearden"[5]

Giles County, Tennessee land records show that Isaac and Barbara Smith Compton bought land near Lynnville after they moved to Tennessee. Isaac died on December 7, 1875. Barbara died in 1887. They are buried in the Old Elk Ridge Cemetery. By living in the Lynnville area, the Comptons experienced the War Between the States first hand. Lynnville was a railroad center occupied alternately by Union and Confederate forces during the war. Union forces destroyed some court house records in 1862. General Hood moved through the area on his way to Nashville in 1864. There was fighting in and around Lynnville on November 24 and December 24 of that year. In 1867, Isaac and Barbara's daughter, Mary E. Compton married her first cousin, ENOCH HARRISON SMITH. Enoch was the son of FRANKLIN SMITH.

FRANKLIN B. SMITH (Son of William and Sarah Trail Smith)

Franklin was born February 14, 1802 in Spartanburg County, South Carolina. As indicated previously, his father died in 1804. Franklin grew up in Spartanburg but moved to Giles County, Tennessee with his sister Barbara Compton. In 1820 Franklin was apparently living with his sister and her husband, Isaac Compton.

The 1830 Federal Census Records for Giles County, Tennessee shows Franklin apparently living on a farm adjoining that of his sister and her husband. By this time Franklin had married SARAH ELIZABETH BEARDEN. In 1834, Franklin sold land near Globe Creek in Maury County, Tennessee to his brother-in-law, Isaac Compton. Several of Franklin and Elizabeth's children were probably born there.[6]

In 1848, Franklin purchased land bordering Swan Creek in southern Marshall County from Alfred Bearden. This is the property on Swan Creek near Delina where they lived until Betsy's death in 1859.

Like his father, Franklin listed his occupation in the census of 1850 as Gunsmith. He could have learned his trade at the gun factory on Dutchman Creek in Spartanburg. He and Betsy had twelve children, the oldest being Julia who was born September 20, 1827, probably in Maury County.

Betsy died on July 29, 1859, after a six month illness, probably of pneumonia, according to the 1860 mortality schedule for Marshall County. They buried her on the top of a ridge in the Medium Cemetery not far from Swan Creek. Just after her death, Franklin broke the painful news to his sister Barbara Compton in nearby Giles County, Tennessee:

"Medium, Marshall County
August 1, 1859

Dear Sister,

I received your lines the other day which gave me the account of your family and the sickness you have had with you. I am glad to hear that you are all better and I hope these lines will find you all still getting better. We have had sickness amongst us all this season up till within a few days past which has terminated fatally to one of us and it falls to my painful duty to Record to you the death of my Dear, Dear wife Betsy departed this life on the 29th of July last after an illness of near six months. Thus I have lost my best comforter and friend in this world. We have had other sickness come in the family. Robert has been sick nearly all this season and is not well yet. I can't you how he is just now. I will hear from this evening and I will let you know before I seal this. Poor Bob he is like something wild he was so at home and I have not seen him since the day of election and has heard from him but once, tho I shall hear from him as I said above. Julian has been sick with chill and fever about the time of her Mother's death and since but has got better and is now is getting tolerable stout again. There has been another Death in our neighborhood. Benjamin's wife's mother died on the same Day that Betsy did and was Buried the same day and at the same place, tho not immediately at the same hour. She was a Mrs. Winter. Jane has had to participate some in our troubles as death entered her abode and tore from her a little daughter about a year old, a sprightly little thing could run about anywhere and had begun to talk some. It died with the flux.

Now, Barbara, my dear wife is taken from me. She was my best friend, my nearest friend, my dearest friend, my bosom friend, my comforter and consoler to be torn from me the one of all others the least willing to spare and the center of the family for it is well known that we had no woman to spare. It is almost unbearable. I had thought I would try and fix to work less but that is denied me now for I shall have to work the more to try to fill up the gap in the hours by buying cloth and hiring weaving for Julia can't do for us all.

I would have sent for you but the distance and knowing that it would do no one any good I did not do it.

I have heard from Robert since I began my letter and he was not better if any thing was wors so I will come to a close. I can do more talking than writing, so come up when you can as I would be glad to see you all. So no more at present but remains your sincere Brother till Death.

Franklin Smith[7]

The 1860 Federal Census Records show Franklin living with five of his children. Their Post Office was at Belfast, Tennessee. He lived to see his country torn by the ravages of the War Between the States and his son Enoch made a prisoner of war following the fall of Fort Donelson. Franklin died November 2, 1862, about three months after Enoch's release. His relatives buried him next to his beloved Betsy in the Medium Cemetery near Delina. He was 59 years old.

Franklin and Sarah Elizabeth Bearden Smith's children:

-JULIA ANN SMITH, born September 20, 1827 in Giles County, Tennessee, died December 11, 1913, married JAMES PETER WRIGHT ca 1847.

-NANCY HELEN SMITH, born July 5, 1849, married WILLIS S. SHAW on October 18, 1870. They lived near Abilene, Texas.

-ELIZABETH SMITH, lived only 18 days.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN SMITH (Son of Franklin and Sarah Elizabeth Smith)

Benjamin was the third child of Franklin and Sarah Smith and was born August 25, 1830 in Maury County, Tennessee. He married Margaret Josephine Hunter the daughter of WASHINGTON HUNTER and SARAH HOBBS. Margaret was born January 13, 1837. At one time Benjamin operated a General Store located on a corner of his farm near a mill on Swan Creek in Marshall County. In 1892 the store was moved to the Delina cross roads. On April 9, 1880, Benjamin was appointed Postmaster.

The microfilm records at the National Archives disclose that, during the War Between the States, Benjamin enlisted in Company K, 3rd Tennessee Infantry Regiment on May 24, 1861. He was taken prisoner at the fall of Fort Donelson on February 1862, and is then found admitted for pneumonia on February 21, 1862 at City U.S.A General Hospital in Saint Louis, Missouri. The records suggest that he escaped.

Benjamin Franklin and Margaret Smith's children were:

-EDWIN AUGUSTA SMITH, born 1854, married MARY WASHINGTON HUNTER. Edwin died in 1913 and Mary died January 10, 1944. Both are buried at the Medium Cemetery.

-MOLLIE McCLELLAN SMITH, born August 1, 1858. Died in Nashville, TN March 2, 1942. Married ISAAC A. DENHAM. Mollie is buried at the Medium Cemetery.

-DIBERELLA SMITH, born May 2, 1865, died August 4, 1883 at the age of 18. She is buried at the Medium Cemetery.

-WASHINGTON F. SMITH, born July 16, 1869, died August 10, 1888 at the age of 19. He is buried at the Medium Cemetery.

-EVA SMITH, born November 23, 1872. Married NEWT CALDWELL and lived in Winchester, Tennessee. Eva died September 14, 1958.

HILLARD BONAPARTE SMITH (Son of Franklin and Sarah Elizabeth Smith)

About 1920, Hillard sent his son, ROBERT AUGUSTAS SMITH a journal telling him what he knew about his ancestry and about his early life. This journal is quoted as follows:

Dear Son,

As I told you in my letter, that I very regretted not having informed myself more thoroughly concerning my ancestry, these memorials will necessarily be imperfect. My parents, Franklin Smith and Elizabeth Beardin were both born and raised in Spartanburg Dist. South Carolina. I know nothing of their antecedents except my mothers father was named Benjamin.

Grandfather Smith [meaning William Smith] died when father was very young and father never talked about him so I do not know his given name. Neither do I know Grandmother Smith's given name. She had three children by Grandfather Smith: Father, Barbara and an aunt whose name I do not know. Barbara married a man whose name was Isaac Compton. Grandmother Smith married a second time. Her husband named Moore, by whom she had several children. I remember the names of only two: Simeon and Ailsey. Mr. Moore, according to Father's account, was a hard customer. He was very craving, worked hard and required all about him to do the same. One instance will suffice: He ran a still and after work in the field all day he would take Father and run the still all night. On one occasion it was fodder pulling time. After tying fodder until about ten o'clock they went to the still. Mr. Moore generously gave father the first run, intending to take charge at midnight. So Mr. Moore lay down to sleep but father was so tired, fagged out, and sleepy that Mr. Moore got very little start on him. They both had an all night sleep. Mr. Moore waked up first in the morning. The still was puffing like a steam engine; he jumped up and called out, "jux! jux! the whole run's spoiled!" Father said that was one time Jimmy didn't even scold him.

But the worst of the case was that Mr. Moore undertook to carry out the old English regime of making the firstborn a gentleman and the children slaves. Of course Father's primogeniture went for nothing. So Simeon was sent to school and the rest were compelled to toil to support him.

Father stood it until he was nineteen years old; then he left and came to Tenn. I do not know which came to Tenn. first. Father or Mother, but I think Mother came first; for when Father came, he went to one of Mothers uncles to learn the gunsmith trade. He was familiarly known as Pleas Bearden.

Father was a fine mechanic, as all my brothers were, especially William and John. I had less mechanical skill than the others. I suppose it was because I had less patience.

Father and Mother were married in 1825 by a Hardshell Baptist preacher, Peter Fewqua whom I never saw. Father was 20 yrs of age. They settled in Giles Co. on the waters of Blue Creek. There my oldest sister Julia Ann was born. She lived to the age of 96. Julia had four children: three boys and one girl. I just saw her when I went back to Tenn. The children are all gone except the youngest, Luther. They all married into one family, that of James Clift.

My oldest brother, William Rufus was born on Blue Creek. He educated himself privately, studied medicine and became a practicing physician. You have seen his daughter Emma.

My brother Benjamin Franklin was also born on Blue Creek. You have seen him. These three went to a teacher whose name was Hankins. He was rightly named.

Sister Emily was born on Blue Creek. She married David Marion Caldwell. They were unfortunate in their children; for they mostly died young. Those that lived to be married, soon died, they and their children. She has one grandson, is 89 years old and is almost helpless.

The birthplace of my brother was also Blue Creek. He married Mariah Downing. You saw his son and daughter when they were here. He learned the silversmith trade and was a very fine workman. He educated himself; was graduated from One West College, Spartanburg District, S.C. He spent his life as a teacher and was a success. I suppose as he taught about 30 years in the same community.

I too was born on Blue Creek, Apr 7, 1836. When I was about one year old, Father moved up into Marshall Co. and bought a tract of land from Alfred Bearden, 200 acres for $800, where he lived until he died in 1863 at the age of 58, mother having preceded him by five years. All the rest of my brothers and sisters were born there: Americus DeLafayette, who died at the age of 14; Enoch Harrison, who now lives in Berryville, Arkansas; Elizabeth, who died at the age of 18 days; Robert Bruce, who died in Dallas County, Texas; an unnamed baby which lived only four days; Alfred Winn, who died some four years ago; and Nancy Helen, who lives near Abilene.

I went to three private schools taught by Miss Elvira Tatum, James Young and Kezehiah Roberts. My public were John Bauchman, John Blair, one of Willis Shawes uncles, Mr. Harper and Joe Davidson, who taught us to sing geography.

At the age of 20, Father gave me a mule colt which I sold for $50. I used the money in going to school for five months to Coleman L. Randolph. Board was six dollars a month and tuition two dollars and fifty cents. In the fall of 1856 I made a contract with Calvin Robinson to assist him in his academy for the next ten months. He gave me board and tuition and I gave him one fourth of my time.

In the fall of 1857 I taught a three-month public school. In 1858 James Marshall Brown and I taught a ten-month public school, during which time I came very near dying of typhoid fever.

In the spring of 1859 I worked on the farm with Jane's husband, D.M. Caldwell communally called Chick. That fall I made contract with my old teacher, C. R. Darnell to assist him for ten months, he to board me, feed my horse and pay me $30 a month; I to give him three-fourths of my time. I loaned $250.00 to my brother John to help him through college. This ended my school days.

In the fall of 1860, I came to Texas in company with Walter Hedgepeth. It took us six weeks to made the trip from Marshall Co. Tenn. to Waxahatchie, Ellis Co. Texas but we whiled away the long trip very pleasantly.

I lived in Waxahatchie during the winter. In the spring of 1861 Texas seceded from the Union. I went to Hill Co. and taught school at Covington until a call was made for volunteers. I joined the army. I boarded with D. T. Lawrence and considered his house my home during the war. I need not write of the war: the same horrors are common to all wars.

In the fall of 1865 I went to Dallas Co., where I taught ten months. Then I went to Ellis Co., where I taught five months.

I joined the conference in 1868. My first work was the San Gabriel Circuit in 1869. My next was Ft Worth. I don't know that I should tell it, but there was a local preacher who had a house full of girls. He went to the Weatherford Conference specially to have me appointed to the Ft. Worth Circuit. I was not there long before he was against me tooth and toe-nail. He did me all the harm he could. I have always thought he turned against me because I would not court his girls. I had two reasons for my conduct; first, in those days I carefully avoided all semblance of familiarity with girls; secondly, they were a household of ignoramuses.

In 1871 I was on the Walnut Creek Circuit in Parker Co., where your Ma and I were married on the 10th of August, 1871. Rev. Augustus A. Cornett performed the ceremony. So if we live to the 10th of next August, it will be the fiftieth anniversary of our married life.

We were on the Peoria Circuit in 1872, and on the Stephenville Circuit in 1873. That fall I located and went to make a living as the Circuit paid me $36.00 during the year.

We had nothing but one horse and a few clothes. I gave the horse for a set of house logs, bought a lot on credit and built on it. I then went to work carpentering. I built the first Methodist church in Stephenville and the first Methodist church in Dublin.

I do not know of any incident that would likely be of interest. I worked hard and lived economically until I paid for my lot and improved it. I kept up preaching and was a standby for the young preachers who came to Stephenville. My house was headquarters for the itinerancy and also for a number of countrymen who made it convenient to call about dinner time when they were in town. I soon found I could not made ends meet and feed the county; so one way or another I gave them to understand I was not running a free boarding house.

We came very near losing Cora. There was only one man who stood by me and said she should not die - Doctor May.

We moved to Dublin in 1883 where I bought a lot and improved it. I set out one Monday morning to buy me a tract of land. I sold my place in Dublin, came to Stephenville, sold my place here, bought my land and got back to Dublin Friday. You know the rest."

ENOCH HARRISON SMITH (Son of Franklin and Sarah Elizabeth Smith)

Enoch was the seventh of twelve children born to Franklin and Elizabeth Bearden Smith. He was born December 31, 1839, in Marshall County, Tennessee where he grew to manhood. When hostilities broke out in 1861 between the North and South, Enoch went to Cornersville where, on September 16, 1861, he enlisted in Company G, and later served in Company H, 3rd Tennessee Infantry Regiment, CSA.

Details of the Company's history can be found in the Regimental Histories and Memorial Rolls of the Military Annals of Tennessee Confederate, as well as on microfilm at the National Archives in Washington, D.C. When Fort Donelson fell to General Grant on February 16, 1862, Enoch went as a prisoner of war with his regiment to Camp Douglas, now in downtown Chicago. Sanitary conditions in the camp were appalling and many died there from starvation and disease. At its peak, ten percent died each month.

After almost seven months of imprisonment, the Regiment was transferred by train to boats at Cairo where they embarked down the Mississippi to Vicksburg in a POW exchange. Here they were reorganized. Enoch was assigned to field and staff as regimental bugler, and the Regiment was placed in General Gregg's Division.

The Regiment fought in several battles in and around Vicksburg. It formed the center at Chickasaw Bayou where it repulsed Sherman's troopers trying to take Vicksburg from the north. It was in the heaviest fighting at Raymond against Grant's forces moving on Vicksburg from the east. And it fought in the trenches around Jackson before being transferred to Chattanooga where it participated in the battles of Chickamauga and Missionary Ridge. At Chickamauga it was in Longstreet's famous rebel charge that broke Rosecran's army. It was on Johnston's retreat to Atlanta, and at Jonesboro, and fought with Hood's army in the battle for Nashville. It fought in the last large battle in the west under Johnston, the Battle of Bentonville in March 1865. It surrendered to Sherman's army at Greensboro, North Carolina in April 1865. Here Enoch was one of 35,000 confederate troops under Gen. Joseph E. Johntson who were paroled and sent home.

In April 1865, Enoch returned home to Giles County, Tennessee to take up farming. He married his first cousin MARY ELIZABETH COMPTON, daughter of Isaac and Barbara Compton, in Giles County on July 24, 1867. They acquired some land on Globe Creek near Mooresville in Marshall County and began farming. Within a few years they had six children. Mary died on April 26, 1878 and lies with her infant child in the old Elk Ridge Cemetery just a mile south of Lynnville, Tennessee, where her parents are also buried.

About two years after Mary's death, Enoch married a 19 year old neighbor, SALLY HOBBY. They continued to live in Marshall County until 1884 when they sold their farm and moved to a new farm two miles northwest of Berryville, Arkansas. Enoch and Sally reared a second family here, and at least one of their six children, Tobe, became prominent in local politics. They lived on the farm until 1920, when they sold it and moved to a residence just west of town on the Berryville-Eureka Springs Highway.[8]

Enoch became ill in 1921 and his illness lingered on until 1923. He was survived by Sally Hobby Smith and eight children. Two years before his death he had applied for and received a confederate veteran's pension from the State of Arkansas which Sally continued to receive after his death.

PART 4-SubChapter 4-2-2 - ELIJAH SMITH (SON OF CHARLES SMITH)

Elijah Smith, son of Charles and Catherine Rhodes Smith, was born April 19, 1767 in Prince William County, Virginia. When Elijah was about 11 years old his parents moved to Spartanburg District, South Carolina. Elijah grew to manhood and spent his life in that area.

In the early 1790's, Elijah married DIANNA HAM. Dianna was born December 16, 1776. Elijah purchased several tracts of land:

> *"Sept 10, 1798 Samuel Elder (Spartanburg) to Elijah Smith (same); for 50£ sterling sold 137 ac on waters of Dutchman's Cr. of Tyger R; border, N-the mountain tract, E-Arthur Hutchins, S-Edward Lowndes, and W-Thomas Vaughan; plat attached; grant Apr. 3, 1786 Gov. Elijah and his wife Dianna were members of the Cedar Springs Baptist Church. On July 23, 1803, they, along with Elijah's parents, petitioned the church for a letter of dismissal so they could join a new church when constituted. The new church was the Philadelphia Baptist Church which was constituted a few days later on July 30, 1803. In October 1803, Elijah was appointed to act as Deacon and on January of 1804, he was ordained as a deacon.

The Philadelphia Baptist Church had black members. The blacks apparently had separate meetings since in 1806 two black brethren were appointed deacons to keep good order at their meetings. The law at the time forbade blacks assembling without whites being present. Four white men - Elijah Smith, his brother Daniel and their father Charles Smith along with James Page agreed to attend the meetings of the blacks so the law would not be broken. The blacks later complained that the white men had neglected to attend.

Elijah Smith died January 17, 1834. Dianna Ham Smith died April 4, 1854. Both are buried at the Philadelphia Baptist Church Cemetery. After Dianna died, some of her children appointed their brother, Enoch Ham Smith, to administer the estate.

MOSES HAM SMITH (Son of Elijah and Dianna Ham Smith)

Moses Ham Smith was born in Spartanburg County, on May 31, 1795. He grew to manhood there and married SARAH MASON before 1820. Sarah was born in Spartanburg County, in 1794, the daughter of Francis and Ellender Mason.

Moses joined the Philadelphia Baptist Church on March 3, 1820 and was baptized on March 7, 1820 by Rev. Miles Rainwater. On April 8, 1820 Moses' wife, Sarah, moved her church membership from the Bethlehem Church to the Philadelphia Church. In December 1820, Moses was appointed Church Clerk, replacing Robert Page. He was also appointed on different occasions as a messenger to the Baptist Association. In September 1834, Moses applied for letters of dismissal for himself and his wife. This was apparently just before he and his family moved to Campbell (now part of Fulton) County, Georgia.

Sarah's father died prior to 1826 and her mother, her husband Moses and other relatives sold her father's property:

> "Aug. 6, 1826 Elleanor Mayson, Moses H. Smith, James Rainwater, and James Mason, heirs of Francis Mayson desc (Spartanburg), to Jesse Mayson (same); for $300 paid to Francis Mayson desc sold 125 ac on waters of Ford's Cr of Fairforest Cr; border: James Aytes' crib. Witness Thomas Poole and David Posey. Signed Elleanor's mark, Moses H. Smith, James Rainwater, and James Mason. Wit. oath Jan. 2, 1827 Thomas Poole to Geo Camp. Rec. Jan 2, 1827." [2]

Moses and Sarah had six children before moving to Campbell County, Georgia about 1834.

-ELIZA COLINE SMITH, born ca 1820 in Spartanburg County.

-ELIAS J. SMITH, born ca 1822 in Spartanburg County, married CANDIS MURRAH on September 27, 1857. In 1860, they were living in Campbell County, Georgia with no children. The 1860 Federal Census cited Elias' age as 40 and Candis' age as 23. On September 25, 1861 Elias enlisted in Company G, 39th Georgia Infantry Regiment of the Confederate Army. He was discharged for disability on March 10, 1862.

-FRANCES MALISSA SMITH, born ca 1826 in Spartanburg County.

-MARY NAZARETH SMITH, born ca 1826 (twin to Frances), married JOHN McKINNEY DILLON on February 22, 1844. Mary died in Fair burn, Georgia on August 17, 1857. Mary was the ancestor of SYBIL SMITH TOOKE and her daughter, BARBARA TOOKE HOFFMAN of Bartlesville, Oklahoma who contributed information in writing this book.

-NEWTON GILBERT SMITH, born ca 1829 in Spartanburg County, married BETSY DUNLAP. On August 27, 1861, Newton enlisted in Company E, 27th Georgia Infantry Regiment of the Confederate Army. He was discharged for disability at Richmond, Virginia on November 14, 1861.

-ELIZABETH E. SMITH, born ca 1831 in Spartanburg County.

In 1848, Moses purchased 202½ acres of land in Campbell County, Georgia.

On September 17, 1857, Moses Ham Smith wrote a letter to his brothers and sisters living in Spartanburg County, South Carolina. The letter, addressed to his brother, Enoch H. Smith of Glenn Springs, Spartanburg District, is quoted as follows:

"Georgia Fayette County
September 17, 1857

Dear Brothers, Sisters, Nephews and Nieces.

I now take my pen in hand to drop you a few lines to let you know that I have not forgotten you. I often think of you and would be very glad often to hear from you, and would be extremely glad to see you all before I go hence and am no more. I answered your letter you wrote me when you returned home. I was then at work in Atlanta. I have received no more from you since. I have often thought of writing, but have kept putting off till now not having much to write and never being at home only a Saturday night and till about 3 a Sunday evening. I am now at home and have been ever since last Saturday morning. I had a hard ague the day before an after the ague a violent fever that put me out of my senses for the second time in life. I was brought home. I commenced trying what virtue there was in Brandrithe pills and Lobelia before I had the ague, and when I got home I kept up the practice until I hope I have broke the chill having had none since last Sunday morning. The attack was so severe that I phisicked so powerful that I soon got so weak that I could hardly walk. I am now through much, merely gaining strength far beyond my expectation. The rest of my family are enjoying common health. Gilbert and Sally both have had the chills and fever and are not well. Their children are well. Elias and Candace were well a few days ago. There is more chills and fever in this country than has been since I have been in Georgia. This has been my first attack. I think I feel thankful that my life had been spared so long as it has amid sickness and death. This day lacks one month of being two years since the monster made a breach in my family that is irreparable. I know I have to submit to the hand of an all wise providence. I know that agreeable to the course of nature I cannot live but a few years at most.

If I am not deceived when I finish my course on earth then shall I be free from sin and sorrow and be forever at rest till that morning when this vile body shall arise and put on immortality. A glorious thought changed from a natural body to a spiritual body, capable of enjoying the glories of eternity. If we see each other no more in this world of trouble and trial may it be each of our happy lots to meet in that world where sickness and death can never come is the fervant desire of your brother.

We have pretty fair crops in this country. I am persuaded something near an average crop. I would like to receive a few lines from you. When you write direct yours to Fayetteville, instead of Farburn. Tell Liza I would be glad she was here to stay with Carline and the children while I am from home. I conclude by requesting you to write, and remember us when it goes well with you.

From your affectionate brother

Moses H. Smith"

The 1850 Federal Census shows that Moses was a Carpenter. He presumably had worked in Atlanta as indicated in his letter.

ENOCH HAM SMITH (Son of Elijah and Dianna Ham Smith)

Enoch was born April 12, 1802. He married his first cousin, NANCY SMITH on February 1, 1827. Nancy, born August 1, 1803, was the daughter of Sanford Smith.

Enoch and Nancy lived in Pauline, South Carolina, a few miles south of Spartanburg, all their lives. They accumulated a considerable amount of property, owning a grist mill, a saw mill and a cotton gin. These facilities were operated by water and were located about one mile west of the Philadelphia Baptist Church on Dutchman's creek. Enoch was a farmer and also owned a store and loaned money to local area residents. He was the executor and administrator of many wills of deceased individuals in the area.

Enoch was a Christian gentleman, and the clerk of the Philadelphia church for twenty-five years.

Enoch owned a number of slaves and in 1838 purchased a slave from Elias Rogers:

"South Carolina) December 19th 1838
Spartanburg District) Rec'd of Enoch H. Smith nine hundred dollars in full satisfaction for a Negro man named Lawson about twenty nine years of age whom I warrant sound and healthy and of sound mind the title hereof I warrant and defend from myself my heirs and afsigns and all other persons.
Signed in presence of E.P. Underwood Elias Rogers"

Enoch and Nancy had eight children before she died of heart problems on September 11, 1847. She was 44 years of age.

In 1848, Enoch married CASSANDRA POOLE. It was her first marriage. They did not have any children.

Enoch and Nancy had four sons that were in the Confederate Army during the War Between the States - Albert Stuart, Robert Marion, James Miles, and Elias Smith. In 1861, Enoch wrote a letter to Albert and asked that he let Robert read it since they were in the same military unit:

"Glenn Springs
May 27th, 1861

Dean Son,

I received yours under date 24th, first which states that you were all well and that you had re-enlisted in the service of the Confederacy, and asking my pardon for so doing. That request is granted, and I commend you for the course that you have taken. I think it best for you to go with your Company instead of being separated and thrown off on some of the seacoast by yourself. My views are different on the war subject now to what they were when you left. I thought then that you would have a plenty to do in your own state. The fact is the interest of all the Confederate States are one and the same. If the Lincolnites can conquer Virginia, all the other Confederate States will be in danger of forming the same fate. Therefore it is but right for the young men to meet the enemy on the extreme bounds of the Confederacy and there teach them that their duty is to go home and attend to their own business and let us alone with our civil institution. The government will soon fall into the hands of the young men, and therefore, they must defend the right of their own government instead of depending on the old men to do it for them. Altho it is a matter of grief to me to see the young men have to leave home and risk their lives to conquer an enemy, but I have to submit to it. Our cause is a good one and therefore, we must sustain it even at the risk of our lives. We are in common health all but Elias. He is quite sick today with the bowel complaint. Your Uncle Noah and children lost their white horse yesterday. When you receive this write and let us know how all is and whether you received your box of clothes and provisions last Friday or not. If you and Robert can have the privilege of a furlough, I want you to make of it and come and see us when you can have that privilege. I would be very glad to take the carriage and go and see you all, but I fear my health and constitution would not hold up under the fatigue. We should all recollect that success in battle is not to the swift nor to the mighty, but to them that puts their trust in the God of Jacob. I should like for the young men of the 3rd Regiment to take the same view of the war subject that I do and not suffer themselves to scatter and squander, but to stay united and meet old Abe's servants in one common bond. Nothing more at present.

P.S. Let Robert read this also, Yours,

E. H. Smith"

Albert enlisted April 14, 1861 and was a Corporal in Company K, 3rd South Carolina Infantry. The 3rd South Carolina Infantry Regiment was a part of McClaws' Division of Lt. Gen. Longstreet's 1st Army Corps. Albert participated in the following battles: Secessionville; First Manassas; Williamsburg; Savage's Station; Malvern Hill; Harpers Ferry; South Mountain; Sharpsburg (Antietam); Second Manassas; Fredericksburg; Chancellorsville; Gettysburg; Chickamauga; Chattanooga; Knoxville; Wilderness; Spotsylvania; Cold Harbor; Petersburg; Port Republic; Cedar Creek; and Bentonville. He was wounded at both Sharpsburg and Gettysburg, and surrendered at Greensboro, North Carolina.

Robert was commissioned as a Lieutenant on April 14, 1861. He served in Company K, 3rd South Carolina Infantry and was at Secessionville and First Manassas. He resigned his commission on April 18, 1862 due to disability. He had typhoid and was at the Chimborazo Hospital at Richmond, Virginia. He later enlisted as a Private on April 19, 1864 in Company F, Captain Westfield's Company, 2nd Regiment, South Carolina Cavalry. In the battle on John's Island, South Carolina in 1864 he was wounded in the right arm which necessitated amputation at the shoulder joint.

The Chimborazo Hospital at Richmond, Virginia was a sprawling institution located on a hill near the western side of the Confederate capital. It began receiving patients in 1862. A total of 76,000 patients were treated at Chimborazo during the war and it was the largest military hospital in the world during that time. It was evacuated after the fall of Richmond.

In 1859, Enoch accidently cut off one of his hands in his cotton gin and never completely recovered. He was able to order an artificial hand from Pennsylvania through his son, Doctor Robert Marion Smith. Enoch died April 8, 1862 with diphtheria. Records of Philadelphia Baptist Church, Pauline, South Carolina show:

> "June 7, 1862. On motion we record the death of our brother Enoch H. Smith. He connected himself with this church June 10, 1832 and departed this life April 8th, 1862. Brother Smith was an acceptable, efficient and worthy member of the church for about 30 years. He was appointed treasurer February 9, 1833 in which capacity he acted until August 1857. He was also appointed recording Clerk of the Church February 1835 in which capacity he acted until December 1859 when he ceased to act as Clerk on account of the misfortune of losing his right hand cut off by his Gin. Brother Smith was a man of more than ordinary mind. He was a Genius. In the management of his domestic relations he was a model worth of imitation."

In 1867, Enoch's second wife, Cassandra Poole Smith wrote a letter to her niece, Malissa Compton who was living in Lamar County, Texas. The letter described conditions in Spartanburg County after the War Between the States:

> Glenn Springs, S.C.
> November 25, 1867

My Husband died the 2nd year of the War and left me a plenty to live on comfort able the rest of my days, but the negroes have been freed and the Estate have never been settled up yet and this year I wouldn't have any freeds around me, so I have worked in field this year as old as I am. Three of my Stepsons are married. The Oldest one married Elen Vise, the youngest one Lizzie Poole, the 2nd one Addie Skinner, so that only leaves 2 behind, ie. the 3rd son and youngest daughter. I have one of your Uncle's Nephews living with me. My family is small, only 4 in number. I made a very good crop considering the force and the rain ruined the best of my corn. I was very sorry to learn the situation of your family. How is national affairs with you. They are in an awful situation here. The* > Radicals have elected 2 Radicals and a Negro to go to the Convention in this District, and we are all dreading a Insurection and I think it will be sure to come in less than 2 months. We will have a dreadful time. I thought the other War was bad enough, but this will be a great deal worse. The white people say the negroes that belong to the Union League shall not stay on their land any longer than Christmas. There is a good deal of stealing going on now. They even steal horses in the open day time. One of my neighbors had a beautiful horse stolen last Thursday at the Village. He was one of the managers of the Election. It was the finest horse in this country and the only one he had and I have the next finest and I am uneasy constant. We are having very gloomy weather, been looking for it to rain for nearly 2 weeks. I want you to write me and give me Ann's address. I have never been able to hear from her since her marriage nor even who she married. I have asked about her as the soldiers passed through but none knew her and Billie says he don't know where she is nor anything about her. They were all well the last I heard anything from them. We have had a great revival at our Church. 27 was added and 2 of my boys and some of them was the hardest cases imaginable. We have a splended young minister, one of our relatives, from Unionville. I think one of the most faithful ministers I ever knew. All of your Elias's Rogers' children are married. The youngest daughter stayed with me awhile during the War. Mary and her Husband are living in Fairfield, SC. Sallie and I went to see her last fall. She has 5 children living now. They were broken up entirely during the War. The Yankees burnt them out at Holly Springs, Miss and they have been living in this state ever since. Write soon and let me know how you are getting along the times. As ever

Enoch Ham and Nancy Smith's children were:

-MARTHA SMITH, born February 17, 1831, died December 9, 1890, married GABRIEL MOORE.

-JAMES MILES SMITH, born May 10, 1832, died April 9, 1906, married ELENDER JANE CAROLINE VISE on August 11, 1861. Elender was born August 28, 1829 and died in 1906. During the War Between the States James was a Second Corporal in 2nd Company H, 1st (Hagood's) South Carolina Infantry. He participated in the battles of: Wauhatchie; Knoxville; Wilderness; Spotsylvania; Cold Harbor; and, 2nd Ft. Harrison. He was paroled on April 9, 1865 at Appomattox Court House.

-ROBERT MARION SMITH, born October 19, 1833, died March 28, 1895, married NANCY ADELINE KING in 1862. Robert's boyhood was spent on his father's plantation. He received a good education in literature, and in 1856 began the study of medicine under Dr. G. H. King, at Walnut Grove, South Carolina. He graduated in medicine with distinction from the Atlanta Medical College in 1858, and for several years had an extensive and lucrative practice. His experience during the war is described above. After the war he became a prominent politician in Spartanburg, and was seldom defeated in his political aspirations. For fourteen years he was a prominent member of the House of Representatives and the Senate. He was a good stump orator, an able debater, and a strong advocate of home rule against "carpetbag government."[3] Robert and Adeline had eight children - six of whom were living in 1900. They were:

-ANNIE EUGENIA SMITH was born October 19, 1863 and married DR. SAMUEL T.D. LANCASTER on August 7, 1879.

-MARY VIRGINIA SMITH was born ca 1865 and married J. F. ALEXANDER.

-CARRIE PAULINE SMITH was born ca 1867 and married I. P. MAHONEY.

-ROBERT E. SMITH was born ca 1869 and died ca 1890.

-HENRY LEE SMITH was born ca 1870 and died ca 1889.

-NANCY CASSANDRA SMITH was born ca 1878 and died December 13, 1951. She married HENRY BERNHARDT.

-CHARLES O'CONNER SMITH, born November 22, 1874, died June 7, 1946. Married LUCY DARNELL.

-EARLE HIX SMITH.

-ELIAS SANFORD SMITH, born 1836, died 1907, married MARY WALLIS POOLE, born 1846 and died 1910. Elias attended a college in Gowensville which was in the upper part of Spartanburg County. He was a school teacher. He also fought in the War Between the States. He enlisted in the Confederate Army on August 8, 1861 at the age of 20 in Greenville, South Carolina. He served in Campbell's Co., 1st (McCreary's) South Carolina Infantry. On October 31, 1861 the company was transferred and became Co. A, 3rd (Palmetto) Battalion Light Artillery. Elias was captured at New Bern, North Carolina on February 21, 1865. He was paroled at High Point, North Carolina on May 2, 1865. Elias told his son of an event that occurred during the war where, during the course of a hot battle, a Confederate cannon was in danger of being captured. Elias gave an order to a soldier to mount the team of horses and haul the cannon out of the action. Bullets were whizzing pretty close at the time and the soldier squatted down and cried: "I wish I had been born a girl baby." He refused to mount the team. Smith's superior officer yelled: "Sabre him, sabre him!" Instead of running his sabre through the soldier, Smith mounted the team and pulled the cannon from the action.[4]

After the War Between the States, Elias purchased the estate which is called "Camp Hill" that is located near Glenn Springs. The antebellum home, built in 1835, was on 800 acres of land. The home gets its name from the campsite of Col. Ferguson, revolutionary leader, which was across the road from the homesite. It is now listed in the National Register of Historic Places. The home is presently owned by Elias' grandson.

Elias and Mary had three children:

-ADA POOLE SMITH, born ca 1871, married Dr. S.T.B. LANCASTER.

-ROBERT E. LEE SMITH, born ca 1873, married NORA FOWLER.

-CLIFTON ALBERT SMITH, born Jan 23, 1880, died February 16, 1967. Married EMMA WHITE. Clifton was a Medical Doctor and served in the Pauline-Glenn Spring area of Spartanburg County.

-SAMUEL MORROW SMITH, born August 21, 1839, died as an infant.

DAVID HAM SMITH (Son of Elijah and Dianna Ham Smith)

David Ham Smith was born on August 7, 1806 in Spartanburg County. On April 22, 1829, he married his first cousin, SARAH SMITH, daughter of Sanford Smith and Mary Morrow. Sarah was born in 1810.

David was a blacksmith and wood workman. He made wagons and other vehicles. He was a member of Philadelphia Baptist Church for over forty eight years. The Philadelphia Baptist Church Minutes state: "The Philadelphia Church has lost one of its oldest and worthiest members; who during his connection with this church of more than 48 years has adorned his profession in every respect by a pious walk and godly conversation whose even gentle and quite life was fought with a moral beauty manifested in only a comparative few; and whose purity, stability and integrity of character were unquestionable."

Sarah died in 1872 and David died June 27, 1880.

David and Sarah had the following eight children:

-SANFORD NEWTON SMITH was born December 26, 1830 and married CORNELIA THEODOISA KERBEY on July 15, 1855. On July 20, 1862, Sanford enlisted in 2nd Company C, 5th South Carolina Infantry. In October 1862 he was in the hospital in Danville, Virginia. On September 1, 1863 he transferred to 2nd Company H, 1st (Hagood's) South Carolina Infantry where his cousin James Miles Smith served. He was at: Second Manassas; South Mountain; Antietam; Fredericksburg; Wauhatchie; Knoxville; Wilderness; Spotsylvania; Cold Harbor; and 2nd Ft. Harrison. He was paroled on April 9, 1865 at Appomattox Court House. Docia (Theodocia) died July 4, 1883 at the age of 49 years and 4 days. Sanford died May 4, 1906 at the age of 76.

-CETORIA SMITH, born ca 1854, married A. JOSEPH PHILLIPS in Conway County, Arkansas on March 28, 1880.

-VICTORIA SMITH, twin to Cetoria - moved to Conway County, Arkansas. (SEE PICTURE OF MOURNING, CETORIA AND VICTORIA ON FOLLOWING PAGE.)

Little is known about the lives of Noah and Celia but apparently he "lost his mind" at some point in time during the 1850's and died in the early 1860's. Celia was not listed with the family on the 1860 Federal Census so she must have died between 1857 and 1860. Several of Noah's children were still under the age of 21 at that time.

In the early part of 1857 David Ham Smith sold land to Enoch Ham Smith which belonged to their brother Noah Ham Smith:

Deed of Conveyance - David H. Smith to E. H. Smith

Whereas Noah Meadows in the matter of Noah H. Smith did file a Petition in the Court of Equity on 31st May, 1856 and whereas the Court of Chancery under said Petition did nominate and appoint committee for said Noah H. Smith, and whereas subsequently following[?], on the 7th of Jany AD 1857 did file a petition praying for the sale of the Estate of the lunatic and whereas the Court of Equity by its order hearing date of Feb 23, 1857 and signed his honor Geo. Dargan did authorize us to sell the Real and personal property of the Lunatic Noah H. Smith at the residence of the Lunatic after advertising the same for at least three weeks etc. Now know all men by these presents that we David H. Smith and Daniel H. Smith Committee of Noah H. Smith or a Lunatic by virtue of the Authority vested in us by the order last referred to, and in consideration of the sum of Four Hundred and five Dollars to us in hand paid by E. H. Smith - sold to him certain tract wherein Noah H. Smith formerly lived - on Vaughn branch - 180- April 13, 1857.[5]

In 1857, Enoch Ham Smith, Noah's brother, placed in trust for the sum of $1.00, a tract of land amounting to 111 acres more or less which was located on the water's of Dutchman's Creek. The land was part of a tract formerly owned by Noah. The Deed of Conveyance established a trust for the children named above. Apparently Mary Smith was of age since Enoch made her the trustee. The Deed also stated that if Mary left the premises, the deed of trust would be placed in the hands of John B. Smith, her brother. The property was to be sold and the proceeds divided amongst the children when the youngest one became of age. Diana was apparently married at the time since the deed showed her as Diana Meaders.[6]

On August 23, 1861, John B. Smith requested that he be appointed guardian for his minor sisters to manage a small estate they had received from the estate of their grandfather John Bearden, deceased. John's minor sisters were Christina T. Smith, Victoria and Setoria [Cetoria] Smith. That same day, John's brothers and sisters - Elizabeth J., William James, Elijah B. and Mourning C. Smith - who were all over the age of 21, petitioned the Court to appoint John to manage property that they had received from their grandfather's estate. John was appointed the guardianship on September 24, 1861.[7]

On April 17, 1862, John B. Smith enlisted as a Private in the Confederate forces. He was assigned to Company G, Palmetto Sharp Shooters, South Carolina (Jenkin's Regiment). He was at: Yorktown; Williamsburg; Seven Pines; and, Gaines' Mill. On June 30, 1862, John was killed in battle at Frayser's Farm, Virginia. It was part of what was called the Peninsula Campaign, or the Seven Days Battles. McClellan's army landed on the Virginia Peninsula in an attempt to march on Richmond from the Southeast.[8]

Lecil B. Smith was also killed during the War Between the States. On January 12, 1863, Mary Smith was appointed the administrator of her brother, Lecil's estate.

On September 7, 1863, Mary was appointed administrator of the estate of her brother, John B. Smith.

DANIEL HAM SMITH (Son of Elijah and Dianna Ham Smith)

Daniel Ham Smith, born June 13, 1816, was the youngest child of Elijah and Dianna Smith. He was a farmer and married JANE LANFORD who was born December 2, 1813.

As a young man Daniel was commissioned as an officer in one of the companies of the old 45th South Carolina Militia and served as such for seven consecutive years. He was then elected colonel of the regiment.

Daniel was about 45 years of age when the War Between the States began. He volunteered his services and was orderly sergeant in Dr. Ben Wofford's company in the winter of 1862-3 at Charleston, and subsequently served as captain of Company A, 1st Battalion of South Carolina Reserves from August 1864 to the end of the war. From December 1864 until the end of the war his son, WILLIAM PINCKNEY SMITH, age 16, was assigned to his company. Both father and son fought at the battle of Bentonville.

Daniel was clerk of the Philadelphia Baptist Church for twenty-five years, a deacon for over fifty, and a Sunday School Superintendent for about fifteen years. Daniel died October 24, 1898 and Jane died March 22, 1893. Daniel is buried at the Oakwood Cemetery in Spartanburg.

Daniel and Jane had four children:

-ELVIRA FRANCES SMITH, born January 16, 1844, died January 13, 1927, never married. She was called "Ella".
-WILLIAM PINCKNEY SMITH, was born January 13, 1848. He married JOSEPHINE O'SHIELDS on November 20, 1871. (SEE ADDITIONAL INFORMATION BELOW.)
-MARSHALL GREEN SMITH, born March 11, 1850, died July 8, 1890, never married.
-CECIA E. SMITH, born December 25, 1851, died January 25, 1940, married JOHN W. STRIBLING.

WILLIAM PINCKNEY SMITH

William Pinckney Smith was born January 13, 1848. At the age of 16, he served in the Confederate Army for approximately 6 months in Company A, 1st Battalion, South Carolina Reserves. After reaching adulthood he became a teacher and then a Baptist Minister, serving churches in Union and Spartanburg Counties. William married JOSEPHINE O'SHIELDS on November 20, 1871. Josephine was born July 27, 1854 in the Gowansville Community of Greenville County, South Carolina. She died of pneumonia on November 21, 1898 at the age of 44. William died of an apparent heart attack on Easter Sunday, April 23, 1916. They are buried at the Oakwood Cemetery in Spartanburg.

William and Josephine had five children:

-DANIEL FURMAN SMITH, born October 29, 1873, died October 5, 1953. Married (1) MINNIE FORTUNE who died in 1923, and (2) MARY SMITH.

-MARSHALL LAMAR SMITH, born July 25, 1875, died October 19, 1959, married AMARYLLIS BOMAR on June 30, 1897.

-ELMORE SMITH, born ca 1878, died May 6, 1963, married PAULINE WHITMAN on June 30, 1897.

-GEORGIA JOSIE SMITH, born July 5, 1885, died April 10, 1887 with measles. She is buried at the Philadelphia Cemetery in Pauline, South Carolina.

-YATES SMITH, born June 1, 1888, died September 26, 1977, married BESSIE LYNCH.

On January 11, 1889, William Pinckney Smith wrote a brief autobiography as recorded in his diary. It is quoted as follows:

"I was born January 13, 1848. My parents belonged to the middle class, owned no slaves, had a good home and lived well. They toiled hard, were true christians, were careful as to our training and association. I was brought up on the farm. My father's rule was to work 6 days out of 7, yet when there were services at our church in the week he would not only go himself but carry us also.

I grew up under a strong religious and Baptist influence. Had early impressions. Was serious at 12, but never made a profession until I was 18. I was 13 at the beginning of the War. Up to that time I had gone to school one whole year, viz. 1857, and a part of some other years, but very little during the war. These schools were known as old field schools.

I was in the War the last winter, leaving home December 7, 1864 reaching home May 9, 1865. Was in Gen. Johnson's army, with him at his surrender. I never refused to do a single duty my officers called upon me to do.

At home, work on the farm again. In Aug. 1866 I started to school to Rev. C.S. Beard at Glenn Springs High School. I went in 1867 and 1869 'till last of Aug. Thus ended my school days. I was ready for second year college.

I joined the Philadelphia Baptist Church in Aug 1866. I soon felt that it was my duty to preach. I felt so unworthy, unprepared. (Poor chance for a poor young man to go to college just after the War.) I could not settle that question for several years. During these years I attended Sunday School, first as a scholar in the Bible class, then as a teacher of a class of small boys, then teacher of the Bible class, then supt. I attended and took part in prayer meetings, was elected a deacon and served a few years.

I commenced teaching school in 1876 and taught 6 years. My work as a teacher was the beginning of the Philadelphia High School, which is now doing good work. Up to opening my school we had 'old field' schools here and there in the neighborhood.

I was happily married to Miss Josie O'Shields Nov. 20, 1871. For 17 years we have lived happily together - may there be many more.

I bought this place, built this house and moved in Feb. 1873. I see about my farm work some each year. I was more or less exercised over the question of preaching until Aug. 1877, when I finally decided to preach. (My struggle was a long and I think peculiar one.) I tried to preach my first sermon Oct. 1877 at Pleasant Grove Church, now called Pacolte #2. The next spring I preached 3 months for Rev. G.S. Anderson while he went to Hot Springs, Ark., for his health. His churches were Sulphur Springs, Cedar Springs, Pleasant Grove and Jonesville.

In Sept. 1878 I entered the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky. and stayed that session, viz. to May 1879. My third child was born just two months after I left home, was over 6 months old when I saw him.

My own church, Philadelphia, called me indefinitely to preach for them once a month. T.W. Smith was their pastor. So I preached once a month there, and here and there as opportunity afforded the rest of the year. In 1880 I was called to the pastorate of New Hope and Sulphur Springs churches. I preached 4 years (one Sat. and Sun. per month) at New Hope. I am still pastor for Sulphur Springs for 2 Sundays per month.

In June 1883, I became pastor of Fairview Church, 5 miles below Union Courthouse. T.W. Smith, the pastor having recently died. I served them the rest of the year and the next. Was unanimously called for 1885, but declined. At the beginning of 1884 I became pastor of Friendship Church and served them 4 years. At the opening of 1886 I became pastor of West Springs Church, called indefinitely. I am still pastor. At the opening of 1888 I became pastor of Clifton Church, served them one year and resigned because I had too much on my hands.

For some 3 years my salary was small, churches undeveloped, had to work hard and practice rigid economy. Only through the efforts of Mrs. Smith was I enabled to get through. My salary is very good now, and we are doing fine."

On February 25, 1950, William's son Marshall Lamar wrote a supplement to his father's autobiography. Excerpts of this supplement, which describes Williams' life after 1892 are shown below.

"On Nov. 29, 1892, we moved to Spartanburg for the benefit of better schools, living first in the Trimmer house on Spring Street, then in the Thompson house on W. Main Street, just opposite the old post office. Then in the Central Hotel in all of which my mother kept boarders to help defray living and school expenses. After a few years of this my father sold his farm and bought a 5 room cottage at 119 E Henry St. which became our home (with no more boarders). About 3 years after moving into this house my father had a second story put on, during the building of which we continued to live there. Prior to this we had added one room.

In Nov. 1898 my mother had an attack of pneumonia which, combined with asthma from which she had suffered for many years, caused her death. On Nov. 21 at age 44. Truly it can be said of her that she looked well to the ways of her household. She was devoted to her husband and children, giving to them and to her church the best of her life in loving service. On practically each anniversary of her death until that of my father, more than 17 years later, he made loving comments in his diary in addition to a beautiful memorial on the day of her death.

Following her death, Elmore and his wife lived in the home with my father and Yates until Elmore moved to Gainesville, GA where I was living. Furman lived in Anderson. After that, my grandmother O'Shields lived there awhile, and Aunt Ella spent a part of her time there until Aunt Cede Stribling (a widow) and Aunt Ella made it their home, keeping house for my father and Yates. This continued until my father's death in 1916. Yates continued living there until he was married in 1917. He was working in the office of Beaumont Mfg. Co. where a newly built home was assigned for him to live.

My father, on moving to Spartanburg in 1892 continued to serve churches as formerly, though his work became concentrated more largely in and around Sptg. His life as a minister became more and more extensive and intensive. More opportunities of service were offered. As an example of such he was a frequent visitor to the county jail where he would talk to the prisoners. He visited those who were in trouble and sorrow. He served several years as Moderator of the Spartanburg Association.

Indicative of his Christian zeal, we find this statement written in his diary Jan. 13, 1888, a birthday anniversary. "I am 40 years old, much older than good. I do want to be a faithful servant of God."

Sometime about the year 1900 the Foreign Board of the Southern Baptist Convention offered the prize of a mahogany bowl, handcarved by a native convert in Brazil, for the best Associational report made that year in the whole south on the subject of Foreign Missions. The prize was awarded by Dr. E. E. Bomar, Assistant Sec. of the Foreign Mission Board. This award was to W. P. Smith. I am sorry I do not have a copy of the report.

In June 1892, he attended an International Interdenominational Sunday School Convention in Denver, Co. with a party of church workers from Spartanburg. Enroute when the train stopped in Gainesville, GA., where I was living, I met the train at the depot and had a very pleasant chat with him, and also with Miss Aramyllis Bomar who was making the same trip and who 4 years later became my wife. The trip included many sight-seeing visits, among the Pikes Peak, Salt Lake City, and lasted 3 weeks.

In addition to his vocational duties he was active in masonry. This was a diversion and a pleasure for him, and no doubt lengthened his life. He was active in the various masonic bodies in Spartanburg and was held in high esteem by the members who honored him by election to various offices of service and trust. He was, at the time of his death, Chaplin of the four state wide organizations of York Rite Masonry. These contacts made him a host of friends throughout the state and beyond, as well as locally.

On the morning of April 23, 1916, Easter Sunday, he filled his regular appointment at Sulphur Springs Church where he had been pastor continuously for 30 years. He probably preached his first sermon there as a regular pastor, and it was here on this day that he preached his last sermon. He left there after the morning service going to West Springs Church, 3 miles away, of which he was also pastor. He had dinner with Mr. & Mrs. John L. Johnson going from there to the pool near the church where he baptized a little girl, then went to the "hotel" to change clothes to preach immediately after in the church. The congregation waited in the church for his arrival and after a while Mr. Henry Crow went to find the cause of his delay. On going to his room, he found him lying prostrate on the floor dead. By his vest being partly buttoned and his hat on the floor near his body, it was believed that he had started out, buttoning his vest with hat in hand when instant death struck him - evidently due to heart attack.

The funeral service was conducted by Dr. W. T. Derieux at Southside Baptist Church, of which he was a member. Dr. Derieux was a close friend since seminary days. His body was laid to rest in Oakwood Cemetery, Spartanburg, by the side of his wife."

William Pinckney was a Mason and belonged to the Order of the Knights Templer. "Sir" William Pinckney Smith was knighted April 14, 1890, served as Eminent Commander during the year 1909, and was appointed Grand Prelate February 15, 1911 in which position he served continuously until his death.

PART 4 - SubChapter 4-2-3 - SANFORD SMITH (SON OF CHARLES SMITH)

Sanford Smith, son of Charles and Catherine Rhodes Smith, was born in Prince William County, Virginia on October 1, 1768. He was about 10 years old when his grandfather, Thomas Smith, died. The next year his parents moved to Spartanburg District, South Carolina and settled a few miles southwest of the present city of Spartanburg. Sanford spent the rest of his life in Spartanburg County.

Sanford and his brother William established a gun factory on Reedy Creek off Dutchman Creek about 1½ miles southwest of the Philadelphia Baptist Church. The church is on Route 59, south of the city of Spartanburg. In the early 1800's they started manufacturing rifles, making the barrels, boring and stocking them. One of the millrocks that turned the steel rifle barrels for the flintlock guns has been set up as an historical marker to the memory of the Smith brothers at the Philadelphia Baptist Church.

On January 15, 1801, Sanford married MARY MORROW, who was born in Spartanburg County on September 13, 1782. Mary was the daughter of SAMUEL MORROW and JENET MORROW. Sanford and Mary had nine children.

Sanford purchased several tracts of land:

Luther Bearden, Jr. of Batesville, Arkansas, a descendant of Harriet and Berryman Bearden, provided the following story about Jesse and Frank James.

JESSE JAMES AND THE BEARDEN FAMILY

In early 1874[1] Jesse and Frank James, along with several members of their gang, robbed the "Hot Springs Stage". This was a stage coach line between Malvern, on the Iron Mountain road in Arkansas, and Hot Springs. Both of these towns are located approximately 55 miles south of Solgohachia, Arkansas which was the home of The Rev. Berryman H. Bearden[2] and his wife Amanda Harriett Bearden.[3]

The escapade gained the robbers about $3,000, including the cash from the express box. They would have had more except as they were about to leave, Jesse asked, "Are there any Southern soldiers here?". One person, George Crump[4] of Memphis, Tennessee answered, "I was one". After questioning Mr. Crump as to his regiment, service, etc., Jesse gave him back his watch and money, with a few highly complimentary remarks.

As was the usual habit of the James gang, they always split up to avoid easy capture, later to meet and split the take. Because of mistrust of most robbers, this was not done by other gangs, and the whole gang was usually caught. Jesse's gang had been through a terrible type of war together, and trusted each with the other's life and money. They were never caught by the law.

On almost a direct line back to Missouri, Jesse would cross the Arkansas River at Toad Suck Ferry[5] which is near Conway, Arkansas and only 15 miles from Berryman's

1 The Arkansas Gazette on Jan 18, 1874 reports the stage robbery as Jan 15, 1874, and the entire caravan consisted of a stagecoach and two light road wagons.

As Jess and Frank rode by the farm, a black person was attempting to molest an invalid 12 year old daughter of Berryman and Amanda who was outside her house. Her name was Francis Emily and she was born in Arkansas. Although Jesse by the time he was 20 years old had killed at least a hundred union soldiers, he was actually very protective of innocent people and promptly rescued Emma without harm coming to her. That night Berryman welcomed him and Frank into his home to spend the night and he cared for their horses. Several times in the remaining years of his life, Jesse came by the farm and received food and shelter and was always welcomed. Emma never married and always lived at home with her parents. She died Nov 24, 1893 at the age of 31 years, 11 months and 24 days and is buried in Friendship Cemetery at Solgohachia, Arkansas alongside Berryman and Amanda.

PART 4 - SubChapter 4-2-4 - DANIEL SMITH (SON OF CHARLES SMITH)

Daniel Smith, son of Charles and Catherine Rhodes Smith, was born in Spartanburg District, South Carolina about 1780. Little is known about his early life. No record was found where he purchased land, but he was a witness to land sales on several occasions, the last being in 1811. He married ELIZABETH TRAIL August 7, 1803. Elizabeth was born about 1782. A paper prepared in 1885 by William Pinckney Smith states that Daniel and Elizabeth had five children but further information could only be obtained on two.

Daniel served as a private in the War of 1812 and died on December 11, 1814 at Haderads Point near Charleston, South Carolina. He died of disease contracted in the line of duty while stationed in the Charleston area. Supposedly he is buried on Sullivans Island near Charleston. In 1857, Elizabeth started receiving a pension from Daniel's service in Captain Gaffney's Company, Colonel Means Regiment, South Carolina Militia. She also received 160 acres in land warrants from the state. Elizabeth was still living in 1866 at the age of 85. On January 16, 1863, a petition was submitted to the South Carolina Senate and House of Representatives requesting that her annuity of $30.00 be increased.

PART 4-SubChptr-4-2-5 - ELIZABETH SMITH (DAU OF CHARLES SMITH)

Elizabeth Smith, daughter of Charles and Catherine Rhodes Smith, was born in either Prince William County, Virginia or Spartanburg County, South Carolina. Different dates of birth have been cited for her-May 29, 1773 and May 29, 1781. If she was born in 1773 then she was born in Virginia. If it was 1781 then she was born in South Carolina. The 1850 Federal Census for Hamilton County, Illinois shows she was 69 but it also shows that she was born in Virginia. If she was only 69, then she would have been born in South Carolina since her parents moved there in 1778 or early 1779.

Elizabeth grew to adulthood in Spartanburg County and married ROBERT PAGE, JR. on November 2, 1807. Robert was born in North Carolina on September 6, 1784. Robert's brothers James Page and William Page married Elizabeth's sisters Rachel and Anna, respectively. Robert's brother John married Elizabeth's first cousin, Dorcas Smith, the daughter of Fleming Smith.

Elizabeth was a member of the Cedar Springs Baptist Church, and along with her parents, moved her membership to the Philadelphia Baptist Church in 1803. Robert was a member of the Bethel Baptist Church but, in July 1806, moved his membership to the Philadelphia Baptist Church and was appointed church clerk the following January.

In 1825, Aaron Smith and Robert West were appointed by the church to look into a matter between two couples - Robert and Elizabeth Page and Moses and Sally Smith. (Moses Smith was the son of Elijah Smith.) On July 8, 1826, Aaron Smith (son of Charles and brother of Elizabeth Page) submitted a complaint that some of the members were involved with "disorderly conduct." Lucrecia Smith accused Elizabeth Page with "going into her home while she was out, then speaking disgracefully about her." Elizabeth Smith accused Elizabeth Page with "praying against her." Then Sally Smith charged that Elizabeth Page had referred to her as "some kind of mischief making person." In response, Elizabeth Page charged: Lucrecia Smith had "misused her father and mother" and that Elizabeth Smith had "spoken hard things concerning her father and mother." The church asked for assistance from the elders of Unity, Cedar Springs and Bethlehem Churches. In October, "non-fellowship" was declared with Elizabeth Page. In November, Robert Page questioned whether the church had given due consideration to all the facts, then declared "non-fellowship" with a portion of the membership because his peace of mind had been destroyed. On March 10, 1827, the church declared "non-fellowship" with Robert Page. (Information based on extracts from the Philadelphia Baptist Church Books.)

In 1828, Elizabeth and Robert left Spartanburg County and moved to the southern part of Illinois, settling on a 40 acre homestead near McLeansboro in Hamilton County. Robert's brother, Joel Page, had moved there from Franklin County, Illinois in 1822. Robert became a County Judge and was also a Baptist Deacon. Elizabeth died in Hamilton County on October 6, 1852. Robert died there on February 19, 1862. It is not known but they may have been buried on their farm or in the Antioch Baptist Church Cemetery in Hamilton County.

Elizabeth and Robert's children:

Sanford and Nancy's oldest child was JOHN MILTON PAGE, born January 12, 1835 in Hamilton County. John was married twice. He had three children by his first wife and seven by his second wife, MALINDA HANNAH SNEED. John and Malinda's daughter, MARGARET LOUISA PAGE, born September 23, 1871, married ALBERT ELMER SMITH. Their son, JOHN MILTON SMITH, born September 24, 1897, married ALICE MAE LEE. In 1853, Hosea and Hannah purchased, for $75.00, 60 acres of land in Sections 25 and 36 of Township 6South and Range 5East. The land was south of Macedonia, Illinois in the Lanes-Rhodes area. After the War Between the States, Hosea and Hannah moved to Missouri with his brothers, JAMES NELSON PAGE and SILAS MESSER PAGE and first settled in Phelps County. He later homesteaded land on Mill Creek near Waynesville, Missouri. Hosea and Hannah had eleven children. He died at his daughter's home, Mary A. Page Lane, near Moab, Missouri in Pulaski County on March 12, 1896. Hannah died at her daughter's home, Martha E. Page Morrow, near Moab, Missouri on January 6, 1906.

MARY ABIGAIL PAGE, daughter of Hosea and Isabella Page, was born June 28, 1849 in Lane Road, Hamilton County, Illinois. On January 16, 1873, Mary married JEREMIAH EWING LANE in Phelps County, Missouri. They had seven children. About 1880, they moved to Pulaski County, Missouri. Jeremiah died April 9, 1919 and Mary died November 11, 1925. Both are buried at the Hopewell Cemetery at Big Piney, Missouri in Pulaski County, a few miles south of Waynesville.

Mary and Jeremiah's sixth child was MARY AGNES LANE, born December 6, 1883 in Pulaski County. She married HOUSTON ELIHUE MORROW on December 25, 1902. Mary died as the result of a gall bladder operation in St. Louis, Missouri on April 10, 1934. Houston died a few months later on October 7, 1934 in a car accident at Fort Leonard Wood. Both are buried at the Dry Creek Cemetery on Fort Leonard Wood in Pulaski County, Missouri. Mary and Houston's children were:

-EFFIE JEANETTE MORROW, born September 1919, married JOHN L. McCULLOCH on March 26, 1947.

Opal Lea Morrow is an avid researcher of her SMITH ancestry and made a significant contribution to the writing of this book. After the death of her parents in 1934, Opal Lea and her sister, Effie Jeanette, moved to St. Louis where she worked at the United States Records Center. She retired in 1972 and moved to Jasper County where she lived at Sarcoxie, Missouri for several years. On March 2, 1995, Opal Lea married WILLIAM C. WAGNER of St. Louis. They live at Barnhart, Missouri.

PART 4-CHAPTER 4-3 - FLEMING SMITH (SON OF THOMAS SMITH)

Fleming Smith was born December 5, 1745 in Fairfax County, Virginia, the son of Thomas and Elizabeth Fleming Smith. At the time of Fleming's birth, his parents were living on the 325 acres of land along Bull Run Creek that Thomas had inherited from his father, Peter Smith of Westmoreland County, Virginia. When Fleming was about four years old his parents moved to a farm across Bull Run Creek in Prince William County, Virginia.

The first record found on Fleming was his membership in the Chappawamsic Baptist Church in 1766. The church was located in Stafford County, Virginia in what is today the Quantico Marine Base. He was 21 years of age at that time. He married PRUDENCE BLAND of Prince William County, Virginia. Prudence was born ca 1750 in Prince William County, the daughter of JOHN BLAND and MARGARET OSBORN BLAND. John and Margaret were also members of the Chappawamsic Church.

Fleming and Prudence moved to Spartanburg District, South Carolina between 1773 and 1777. Their first two children, Dorcas Smith and John Smith, were born in Prince William County, Virginia.

Fleming fought in the Revolutionary War along with his brothers and cousins.[1] The best summary of his military service is expressed in a July 25, 1938 letter from The Quartermaster General, War Department, Washington, D.C. which is in his Pension File No. 30708. Parts of this letter are quoted as follows:

> "The data furnished herein were obtained from papers on file in pension claim, S. 30708, based on the military service of Fleming Smith in the Revolutionary War.
> Fleming Smith was born in the month of December, 1745 in Fairfax County, Virginia. The names of his parents were not stated.
> While a resident of Spartanburg County, South Carolina, Fleming Smith volunteered about October 1, 1780, and served three months as private in Captain Charles James' company, Colonel John Thomas' South Carolina Regiment. He volunteered sometime in January, 1781, and served three months in same company and regiment, and was in the battle of Cowpens, and in an engagement with Tories on Bush River. He volunteered sometime in September, 1782, served about six weeks in Captain John Mapp's South Carolina company, and marched to the Cherokee towns. He had other short tours under Colonel Shelby, no details given.

Farnsworth
Land-grant

He moved from South Carolina about 1803 to the State of Kentucky.

The soldier, Fleming Smith, was allowed pension on his application executed June 3, 1833, at which time he was living in Monroe County, Kentucky."

A summary of Fleming's military record is also shown in The Patriots at Cowpens, pg. 214, by Bobby Gilmer Moss, A Press, Greenville, South Carolina (1985). This record reflects Fleming's birth date as December 5, 1745. However it cites his wife's name as "Nancy Goode". See PART 5 for further explanation of the Battle of Cowpens and our Smith ancestors.

Fleming also filed a claim and received payment for the loss of a mare during the war. During some tours he served as a Lieutenant.

After the Revolutionary War, Fleming obtained 200 acres of land from the State of South Carolina which was located on Kelso's Creek, a branch of Fair Forest Creek, a few miles south of Spartanburg.[2]

The 1790 South Carolina Federal Census shows "Flemmon" Smith with one son over 16 years of age (most likely John), two sons under 16 (they would have been James and Samuel) and four daughters. The daughters are presumed to have been Dorcas, Margaret, Malinda and Prudence. Fleming was listed on the Census next to his brother Thomas Smith.

The 1800 South Carolina Federal Census shows "Flemon" Smith with three sons between the age of 16 and 26. These would have been John, James and Samuel. The females shown are: two between 10-16, one between 16-26, one between 26-45, and one 45 and over. Since Fleming and Prudence's daughter Dorcas married in 1796, it is not known who the one was between 26-45. Spartanburg County, South Carolina Records of the Commissioners of the Poor indicates, "We allowed an order on the Treasurers to Flemmin Smith for keeping Nancy Sprinkle 14 months and 20 days--$3 per month as also at that time for transferring him [her?] to the care of Robert Page who is to keep him [her?] at the same rate."[3] Therefore, the female between 26-45 years of age most likely was Nancy Sprinkler.

Fleming and Prudence were members of the Cedar Springs Baptist church which was located near where they lived.[4]

Fleming sold his farm at Spartanburg in 1801.

"Oct. 12, 1801 - Fleming Smith (Spartanburg) to Henry Brown (same); for $300 sold 199 ac. on waters of Kelsey's Cr; where Fleming Smith lives; border: Peter Smith, Shands Golightly, James Smith, Dodd, and Moses Foster. Wit Wm. Lancaster to Jno Anderson. Rec Dec. 10, 1801."[5]

Fleming and his family moved to Cumberland County, Kentucky in 1801. When the county was divided in 1820 Fleming then lived in Monroe County.

Spartanburg County land records show that in 1804 Fleming received $160 payment from Henry Brown. This apparently is the final payment for land that Fleming had sold to Henry Brown before moving to Kentucky. This record is quoted as follows:

"Jan. 10, 1804 Fleming Smith receives payment of $160 Oct. 12, 1801 from Henry Brown; Fleming is one of parties to "Annexed" deed as grantee (deed not annexed)[Sic]. Witness Richard Brown and Anthony Foster. Signed Fleming Smith. Wit. oath Oct 8, 1804 Richard Brown to William Lancaster. Rec. Oct. 8, 1804."[6]

Fleming, as well as other members of his family were members of the Mill Creek Baptist Church in Monroe County, Kentucky. Church records state that Fleming Smith, a Revolutionary War soldier, was held in high esteem by his neighbors.[7]

Prudence Bland Smith died in Cumberland County, Kentucky (later Monroe County) in 1815. Fleming continued to live in Monroe County until his death on August 22, 1847. He lived to be 102 years of age. He is buried at the Old Mulkey Cemetery at Tompkinsville, Kentucky. There is a headstone at his grave.

CHILDREN OF FLEMING AND PRUDENCE BLAND SMITH

-DORCAS SMITH, born March 6, 1771 in Prince William County, Virginia, married JOHN PAGE, in Spartanburg, South Carolina on March 27, 1796. She died May 17, 1865 in Monroe County, Kentucky. In 1798, John received a land grant from the State of Kentucky consisting of 300 acres located on Meshack Creek in Cumberland County. He and his family left Spartanburg, County, South Carolina in 1802 and moved to Cumberland County, Kentucky. They also lived in that part of the County that became Monroe County, Kentucky. John died of blood poisoning on May 28, 1819. Their children were: SAMUEL WALDEN PAGE (born 1797); PRUDENCE JANE PAGE (born 1799); JOHN BROCKMAN PAGE (born 1801); FLEMING SMITH PAGE (born 1803); MARGARET PAGE (born 1805); LUCINDA PAGE (born 1807); and twin, MILLINDA PAGE (born 1807); and RACHEL PAGE (born 1811).[8]

-JOHN SMITH, born 1773 in Prince William County, Virginia, married SARAH (SALLY) GEE. They resided in Logan County, Kentucky. Sarah preceded John, and he died November 22, 1852. There is no evidence of any issue. John and Sarah were buried on land that was part of their Logan County farm. John's will, dated August 1835, left his property to his relatives.[9] Apparently he left 159 acres of land on Big Whippoorwill Creek, Logan County, Kentucky. Dorcas Page and Samuel Smith gave Samuel's son, Fleming Smith, authority to act in their behalf in disposing of the property of their brother, John.

The document granting this authority states:

> "Know all men by these present we Samuel Smith and Dorcas Page of Monroe County and State of KY have this day nominated, constituted and appointed and by these present do nominate, appoint and constitute Fleming Smith of Logan County and State afore said to sell to him and no other person or persons, the black man Tom of the same county and state afore said, of the real estate of John Smith our brother and for the Black Man Tom to have it in his power to go to Liberia or any other Country where the Law will admit when ever he sees proper to go and State afore said our true and Lawful Attorney, for us, and in our name, hereby authorizing and enforcing our said Attorney in our name and Stead to Sell and dispose of any and all, in and to any and all the Real and personal Estate belonging to the Estate of our brother, John Smith, Late of Said Logan County, now deceased, Land Real and Personal Estate being in the County of Logan afore said, any person or persons, our Said Attorney may see proper to sell and to Execute, a Deed or Deeds, Bills of Sale, consign and to the purchaser or purchasers, in our name and Stead and to deliver the Same to him or them and generally to do and perform all Acts necessary to be done in about and concerning Said Estate in a full and ample manner as he might or could do where we personally present and acting for our selves. Hereby Ratifying and Consigning all Legal Acts that our Said Attorney may do. In Testimony we Samuel Smith and Dorcas Page have. Signed: Dorcas Page, Samuel Smith".[10]

-JAMES SMITH, born October 17, 1777 in Spartanburg District, South Carolina, married NANCY HUGHES in Nelson County, Kentucky on June 15, 1803. James died in Crawford County, Kansas on February 18, 1864. Nancy was born in Kentucky on May 24, 1786 and died in Newton County, Missouri on July 23, 1852.[11] (SEE MORE ON JAMES AND NANCY HUGHES SMITH BELOW.)

-MARGARET SMITH, born ca. 1782 in Spartanburg District, South Carolina. She married EDWARD HUGHES in Nelson County, Kentucky on April 24, 1803. Both were dead when the estate of Margaret's brother John Smith was settled in 1856.[12]

-SAMUEL SMITH, born 1785 in Spartanburg County, married MARY (POLLY) BARKER in Logan County, Kentucky on May 9, 1807.[13] Samuel and wife apparently moved back to Monroe County, Kentucky where he died August 29, 1855. Known children of Samuel and Mary were: MARGARET SMITH who married SAMUEL GEARHART, JOHN SMITH, JAMES SMITH of Monroe County, HENSON SMITH of Jackson County, Tennessee and FLEMING SMITH of Logan County, who married AVARILLO NOE.

-MALINDA SMITH, born 1786 in Spartanburg County, married JOHN WILLIAMS on April 16, 1811 in Logan County. John's will was probated October 29, 1868 in Logan County. Malinda apparently died in 1874 in Logan County.[14]

-PRUDENCE SMITH, born 1790 Spartanburg County, married ROBERT WILLIAMS (brother of John Williams) in Logan County, Kentucky on April 27, 1808. She was living in Logan County in 1870.[15]

JAMES SMITH (Son of Fleming and Prudence Bland Smith)

James apparently moved from Spartanburg County, South Carolina to Cumberland County (later became Monroe County), Kentucky with his parents about 1801. He married Nancy Hughes in Nelson County, Kentucky on June 15, 1803. At some point in time, James and Nancy apparently moved to Logan County, Kentucky. James' older brother, John, lived in Logan County as well.

James and Nancy had at least eleven children while they lived in Kentucky. About 1847, they and some of their children moved to the community of Diamond Grove in Newton County, Missouri - in the southwestern part of the state.

Nancy Hughes Smith died on July 23, 1852 while she and James were living on their homestead in Newton County, Missouri. She is buried at the George Washington Carver Memorial Cemetery which is across the road from where they lived. Her grave is unmarked.

During the War Between the States, a feud developed between the Smiths and some of their neighboring families. The Smiths were for abolishing slavery and did not hesitate to express their opinion in that respect. To the contrary, some of their neighbors held a strong opinion for the Southern cause. One version of this story can be found in JASPER COUNTY, MO, VOL 17-PART 1-CIVIL WAR STORIES AND DATA OF SOUTHWESTERN MISSOURI AND TOMBSTONES by Collene Belk. The version of the feud as passed down through the Smith family is quite different. It seems that about the middle of June 1861, there was a public meeting at Diamond Grove, Missouri and the differences between the North and South became the center of discussion and a heated debate ensued. The Webb family supported the Southern cause while the Smiths favored abolishment of slavery. The Smiths were quite vocal in expressing their attitudes about abolishing slavery and the Webbs, being from Tennessee, had strong feelings to the contrary. James son John was beaten and shot by a group of men and left for dead. However, he was able to get home and recovered. Sometime later the Smiths were warned that the Webb family planned to hang James' son Edmon and shoot the rest of the family the next night. At this time James was about 84 years old. His grandson, John "Tom" Smith, Tom's wife and daughter were living with him. The Smiths hastily gathered their extended families together and all left by wagon train in an attempt to escape to safety in Fort Scott, Kansas. By the next night, the Smiths had reached Baxter Springs, Kansas. They were staying with some friends who lived there. That night there was a shout outside for someone to come out. John "Tom" Smith went to the door. He was holding his small daughter in his arms. When he opened the door he was riddled with bullets. He handed his child to his wife and fell dead on the floor. This occurred on July 21, 1861. John was about twenty six years of age.

The Smiths continued on their way to Fort Scott but the next night they were attacked by renegade Indians. Their food was stolen, clothes and belongings were scattered and the family Bible was taken. It also rained that night. The next day they found the Bible which has since been handed down through the generations. The Smiths continued on to Fort Scott and some segments of the family moved on to other counties. Most of the Smith men joined the 6th Kansas United States Volunteer Calvary and stayed in the service for the duration of the war.

James Smith died on February 18, 1864 in Crawford County, Kansas where he lived. He was 86 years of age.

JOHN SMITH (Son of James and Nancy Hughes Smith)

John was born December 6, 1808 in Kentucky. At about the age of 23, he married NANCY BOWEN while living in Kentucky. Their first child was born in December 1831. John and Nancy had seven children before she died in Kentucky on July 31, 1845. She most likely died during childbirth since their youngest child, Nancy, was born that day. John then married MARTHA ANN PITSER (Pitzer) on January 18, 1846 while still in Kentucky. Martha Ann was 22 years of age, born on October 24, 1824. John and Martha Ann had three children in Kentucky and one after reaching Kansas a few years later. They moved from Kentucky to Missouri ca 1851.

It was John's son, John "Tom" Smith, that was murdered in 1861 as mentioned above.

During The War Between the States, John served in the 6th Kansas Volunteer Cavalry. He served as a private at times in either Company K or Company I of the 3rd Regiment. His son, Edmon Hawkins Smith, served in the same unit as well. While John was away during the war, Martha was left at home with her younger children. One day a group of Indians came to the farm. They made signs indicating that they wanted one of her hogs. She had only two hogs to provide meat for the winter and one of those had died the day before. She was scared and told them to take one of the hogs. They went out to the pen and hauled away the dead hog and left the live one.

John died of consumption on December 31, 1869 on his farm along Lighting Creek near Girard, Kansas in Crawford County. He was 61 years old. He was buried on his farm. Martha Ann died from the bite of a copperhead snake while asleep in bed about 1874. Both John and Martha Ann were members of the Church of Christ.

At the time of his death he was holding his daughter, Eliza, who being born April 23, 1860 was about one year old. She was later named Eliza Tom Smith. After reaching adulthood, Eliza married D. L. PERRY. She died May 16, 1905 at the age of 45 years. She and her husband are buried in the Pepsin Cemetery near Diamond, Missouri.

-MARY A. SMITH, born June 30, 1853 in Kansas and died in Iowa on January 18, 1929. She married HUBBARD MANNING.

MERRITT WILBURN SMITH (Son of John and Martha Ann Pitser Smith)

Merritt was born on December 30, 1850 while his parents were living in Kentucky. He was about eleven years old when The War Between the States began and when his uncle Tom Smith was killed. At the age of 25, he married Mary Margaret Leslie on November 26, 1876 in Joplin (Jasper County), Missouri.

Merritt was a lead miner in Joplin, Missouri. He had some rich strikes and gained considerable wealth. During the latter years of his life he continued mining without appreciable success until his funds were exhausted. He lost $33,000.00 in the last sixty days of his life. On February 27, 1898, Merritt went into Joplin where his mines were located. Two of his small daughters rode the street car as far as it went but returned home. Merritt was later found at the bottom of a shaft in his mine. Family members believe he was murdered. He was forty-eight years of age.

About a year later his father sold the 325 acres of land he owned in Fairfax County, and moved across Bull Run Creek into Prince William County, Virginia where he leased 133 acres of land for 99 years. Daniel grew to manhood in Prince William County.

The first established record of Daniel is in 1766 when he and other members of his family transferred their church membership in the Broad Run Baptist Church in Fauquier County, Virginia to establish the Chappawamsic Baptist Church in Stafford County, Virginia. Other members also transferring their membership were his parents Thomas and Elizabeth Smith and his brothers - Peter, Fleming, Charles, Thomas and John. Apparently Daniel was about 18 years of age at that time. (See PART 4 - THOMAS SMITH for additional information.)

Daniel married ELIZABETH REAVES and was living in Henry County, Virginia as early as 1772 since their oldest child was born there. In 1777, the General Assembly of Virginia passed an Act to oblige all free male inhabitants of the state above the age of sixteen years to give assurance of allegiance to the state. Records show that, in Henry County, 630 individuals signed the oath. Daniel Smith was one of those individuals.[1]

The inventory and distribution of the estate of Thomas Smith, Daniel's father, which was prepared in 1778 states that Daniel was in South Carolina at the time with his brothers Thomas, Peter and James.

According to stories told in the 1880's by Daniel's grandsons who lived in Greene County, Illinois, Daniel fought in the Battle of Cowpens in South Carolina on January 17, 1781, along with his brothers and that Daniel's brother Peter Smith fired the first shot in that battle. (See SubChapter 4-4-3.)

In March 1781, about two months after the battle of Cowpens, Daniel was part of the Henry County, Virginia Militia who marched to the assistance of General Green at Guilford Court House in North Carolina. Daniel was in John Cunningham's Company under the command of Col. Abram Penn.[2]

On September 1, 1780, Daniel purchased 190 acres of land on both sides of Butramstown Creek in Henry County.[3] On March 1, 1781, he was granted 232 acres on the Roundabout Branch of Butramstown Creek. The exact location of the land is unknown but it apparently was near Phillpot Dam northwest of Martinsville, Virginia. In 1803, Daniel sold 372 acres of land to three of his sons - James, Peter and John. In 1791, Patrick County was formed from Henry County and the land was located in Patrick County.

Daniel died in Henry County in 1811. The date of Elizabeth's death is not known.

Daniel and Elizabeth had seven children:

-ELIZABETH SMITH, born December 12, 1772 in Henry County. She married HENRY LINDSEY, SR. on November 26, 1791 in Henry County. Henry was born January 16, 1769. He died in Carroll County, Virginia on November 5, 1845. Elizabeth died in Carroll County February 21, 1865. They had 7 children.

GEORGE SMITH (Son of Daniel and Elizabeth Reaves Smith)

George was born in Henry County, Virginia on November 2, 1777 and apparently grew to manhood there. He married NANCY HAMILTON about 1803. Nancy was born July 13, 1779.

In 1806 George appeared on the tax list of Grayson County, Virginia. The next year he purchased 216 acres of land on Greasy Creek in Carroll County. He lived on Greasy Creek during his time in Carroll County accumulating several properties, selling eight separate tracts in the late 1820's. He was active in the affairs of his community, administering estates, witnessing deeds and performing other neighborhood chores that required someone with some degree of education. Shortly after 1832, George left Carroll County and moved to Indiana where he and his wife died at South Bend. Nancy died July 7, 1853 and George died April 9, 1856. They had seven children:

-JANE SMITH, born 1802 and died 1882. She married WILLIAM PHILLIPS in 1824.

-GREENBERRY SMITH, born 1820 and died in 1886. He also moved to Oregon.[5]

CHARLES SMITH (Son of Daniel and Elizabeth Reaves Smith)

Charles' exact age is not known but he must have been one of the older children of Daniel and Elizabeth. The 1850 Federal Census of the Northern District of Patrick County, Virginia shows Charles at the age of 87 years. Living with him was his wife Sidney (age 60) and two sons, James and Charles Jr. Based on the ages of Charles' brothers and sisters, he was probably born ca 1773. He was not listed on the 1860 Census. Charles married Sidney Purtle in 1816 and their children, as determined from the 1850 Federal Census were:

-DANIEL SMITH, born ca 1818. Daniel's wife's was EXONEY HANCOCK. They had 11 children. Exoney died of consumption on December 10, 1861 at the age of 31 years.[6]

PART 4-SubChapter 4-4-1 - JAMES SMITH (SON OF DANIEL SMITH)

James Smith, the son of Daniel and Elizabeth Reaves Smith, was born at the beginning of the Revolutionary War in Henry County, Virginia on February 2, 1775. He lived his early life in Henry County and married SARAH HANNAH PHILPOTT in Henry County on November 5, 1804. Sarah was the daughter of SAMUEL PHILPOTT and MARY HANNAH PHILPOTT.

James and Sarah apparently moved to Carroll County, Virginia about 1805. He had purchased a tract of land there in 1803 from ZACHARIAH STANLEY and Stanley's son-in-law. He and Sarah lived at several places on Big Reed Creek and its tributaries; purchasing and selling four tracts of land before settling on Panther Creek in 1833. James and Sarah were members of the New Hope Primitive Baptist Church until their deaths.[1] In 1850 they were living with their son Barton Smith.

Sarah died July 16, 1872. James died about two years later on December 31, 1874 at the age of 99 years. They were buried on their farm near their home on Pine Creek near Dugspur, Virginia. It is now called the T.E. Marshall Cemetery, Pine Creek, Carroll County. The cemetery is near the Dugspur school. Descendants of James and Sarah erected a headstone to their graves which has the names of their children listed on the back.

James and Sarah had eight children:

He was killed by the Home Guard on September 24, 1863 along with his nephew Dr. Barton Smith, son of Alexander Smith. (See Dr. Barton Smith below for more details). On July 3, 1857, his father, James, gave him 111 acres of land for the support of he and Sarah for the rest of their lives. Barton died of pneumonia in Carroll County, Virginia on February 4, 1872. He rejoined the army and served during the last winter of the war. (See "Prisons" at end of Chapter.) Wesley apparently died before 1870 since Mary was listed alone with their children on the 1870 Federal Census. Wesley and Mary's children were:

-MARY ANN SMITH, born ca 1854.
-JAMES PRESTON SMITH, born ca 1856.
-NANCY VIRGINIA SMITH, born ca 1858, married JOSHUA ADAM MARSHALL.

Wesley Smith, Polly's brother, and Henry were in the same military unit during the War Between the States. Wesley wrote his sister a letter dated December 29, 1864 from a camp near Fisherville Station, Augusta County, Virginia. A copy of the letter follows:

Mrs. Polly Lindsey:

Dear sister, I seat myself this morning to relate to you the sad and awful news that your husband is dead. It is a painful task for me to do. But however such is the stern fate of war. Henry poor fellow left our camp yesterday morning after breakfast, on detail service, to work in our winter quarters, him and Nathan Marshall and two other fellows from our company. The detail made from our Brigade numbered some seventy five men, they was most all engaged in chopping timber close together, when there was two trees in the act of falling at the same time. Henry being rather between them one of them fell on or rather loge against another tree, breaking off a limb and which was falling towards him attracting his attention, all at once he started to run from the limb and ran under another tree that was falling about twelve or fifteen feet from the but of the tree, killing him dead. Nathan too shall say he was standing in five steps of him when it was done. The tree came very near falling on Marshall too. He says the tree struck him on the shoulder mashing him into the ground, mashing his head all to pieces, and breaking his left thigh. He never knew what hit him. Dear Sis I am sorry to say to you that I cannot have his remains sent home to you to be put away. I applied to our Major and other Officers yesterday to have him sent and told me they could not do it. We will have to put him away here the best we can. I applied to the quartermaster to furnish me a coffin for him and he said he could not do it, from the fact that he had no planks nor nails. I then got some of my friends to get out and get some planks and had a rough coffin made and put him in it and they are digging his grave at a grave yard two miles northeast from Fisherville at a mans house by the name of A. M. Linn. I will mark the grave so it can be found if you wish to send for his remains. He will be buried today about twelve o'clock. I had him taken to a citizen house last nite and me and three others of my company set up with the corpse all night. I will try to have his clothes and things sent home if I can and if I cannot I want you to write to me what to do then. He came to death accidently and very unexpectedly. But however it is a debt we all have to pay sooner or later.

Gods will be done. I hope he is better off than you and I for this is nothing but a vain world of trouble. I truly simpathize with you in your grief and sorrow for you departed husband and nearest and dearest friend on earth. O this is awful news to reach you, but try to bear with it the best you can and try to meet him in the new life to come. We should all try to make pease with our God that when the awful summons comes to call us away from our friends on earth we may be prepared to meet them in heaven. This leaves me not well, but truly hoping they find you and Emily well. I must come to a close, I am with the highest respects affectionate brother until death.

It is said he was a Union sympathizer and refused to take the Oath of Allegiance to the Confederacy even after being threatened by hanging. Nevertheless, all his sons served in the Confederate Army, and two died during that period. He was stooped in his late years and had to make a deliberate effort to look up to see who he was meeting. After Charity died on November 3, 1858, Alexander married PHEBE GALLIMORE FRANKLIN, the widow of JOHN FRANKLIN, JR. On September 22, 1878, Alexander married MATILDA DAVIS WILLIAMS. PRISONS

During the War Between the States, thousands of soldiers from both sides who survived the horrors of battle found themselves as prisoners of war where they faced even greater horrors. Union and Confederate prisons were much the same. Most were death camps in which disease, infection, exposure to the elements and starvation took its toll. Herein is a description of the Union prisons in which some of the Smith men in this book were held, suffered, and in one case died.

It must be noted that the official statistics reveal that 270,000 Union soldiers were held in Confederate Prison Camps from which there were 22,576 deaths or 8.36% of those interned; and, that 220,000 Confederates were held in Federal Prison Camps from which there were 26,436 deaths or 12.02% of those interned. Ergo, both the hard number of internees who succumbed and the mortality rate of the Confederates were greater than those of the Federals.

From the Introduction of Mr. Edwin Beitzell's work on Point Lookout is an apropos quote,

> ...[T]hey [Union officials] failed to disclose the deplorable conditions of their own prisons, or to reveal to the public that the mortality rate in the Federal prisons was higher than in those of the Confederacy, even though the Confederate army did not have enough food and medicine for its own men. They failed to disclose that the Confederate officials informed them about the suffer-ing of the Union prisoners again and again, and offered to exchange prisoners to alleviate their suffering, all to no avail. They failed to disclose that the Confederates also told them that they had no medicines to give to the sick Union soldiers, and offered to buy them from the North, and let Northern doctors come to the camps and administer them. This offer was also ignored.[2]

Beitzell, in his authoritative book also indicates the following figures at page 181,

> The death rate at Point Lookout was 25% as against the Andersonville figure of 24% but not so high as in the Federal camps at Elmira, New York (44%) and Rock Island, Illinois (28%).

Different researchers analyze the statitics differently. Nonetheless, however one constructs the count, 49,012 Americans died in inexcusable revolting inhuman conditions.

Camp Chase. A federal prison camp in Columbus, Ohio, it was the last stop for many unfortunate Rebel soldiers. The prisoners lived in cramped shantylike buildings. They slept two to a bunk bed with mattresses stuffed with straw. Many Southerners, not acclimated to the cold weather and dressed only in rags, froze to death. Those that survived the wet, below-zero temperatures often contracted pneumonia or other diseases. The worst killer was starvation. Food shortages, sometimes deliberate in retaliation for alleged conditions in Southern prison camps, led to sickness and death.

Point Lookout. Point Lookout, Maryland, was the largest and one of the worst Northern prisoner-of-war camps. Designed for 10,000 prisoners, at times it held twice that number. The camp was established August 1, 1863 on the barren peninsula where the Potomac River flows into the Chesapeake Bay. It was made up of two enclosures, one covering about thirty acres and the other some ten acres of land. Each one was surrounded by a fifteen foot high fence. All inmates in the camp were enlisted men and they lived in overcrowded tents. The camp was only a few inches above high tide and the dampness and winter weather caused many deaths. Water was scarce and polluted and there was never enough food or firewood. Rats became a major source of protein for many inmates and catching them became a favorite sport in the camp. There was considerable animosity between the prisoners and the guards, who were mostly black troops-many of whom were accused of abuse at best, murder at worst. There were at least 38 prisoners shot at Point Lookout without reason according to Beitzell.

Almost 4,000 men died at Point Lookout. The 1910 monument includes a scroll of the dead listing some 3,389 names; many more have been discovered within the records since that time 86 years ago. CHRISTOPHER C. STOCKS, mentioned in Endnote 2 of SubChapter 4-1-2 is one of the names listed on the monument.

Fort Delaware. Built in the 1850's, Fort Delaware was located on marshy Pea Patch Island in the Delaware River. Originally designed to house 2,000, its capacity had been increased to 8,000 by 1863. There are records of 2,436 Confederate soldiers who died in that prison during the war. The mortality rate was 12.5% according to at least one researcher. Officers were housed in stone buildings and enlisted men in tents or flimsy wooden barracks sinking into the sodden, malodorous ground. Often, the only way for an inmate to obtain fresh food was from local civilian sympathizers or from those who sold food in the camp. The commandant of the Fort was Brig. Gen. Albin F. Schoepf, a Hungarian refugee who was nicknamed "General Terror." Even an outbreak of smallpox in 1863 and calls for improvement by the U.S. surgeon general failed to move prison officials. Confederate prisoners continued to languish in the prison for two months after the war had ended.

Elmira Prison. Situated at Elmira, New York, survivors of the prison called it "Hellmira." The chief surgeon at Elmira resigned to avoid court-martial for his criminal treatment of sick prisoners. By at least one count, almost 25 percent of the 12,123 Confederate soldiers who entered the 40-acre prisoner of war camp died. JAMES O. SMITH was one of those soldiers. Some researchers calculate that the death rate was more than double the average death rate in other Northern prison camps, and only 2 percent less than the death rate at the infamous Southern prison at Andersonville, Georgia, whereas other researchers in this highly charged atmosphere find statistical support that the Union camps had a higher mortality rate than the Confederate. The problem was not the shortage of food available to prison officials. In retaliation for the supposed conditions in Southern prison camps, the U.S. commissary-general of prisoners ordered that rations be reduced to bread and water. Yet it must be noted that in the war-torn South, the Union P.O.W's were furnished the same rations as Confederate soldiers! The lack of food and overcrowded conditions led to scurvy which was followed by an epidemic of diarrhea, then pneumonia and smallpox. By war's end, 2,963 Elmira prisoners were dead.

DANIEL SMITH (Son of John M. and Rachel Packwood Smith)

Daniel was born in Patrick County, Virginia on June 11, 1807. He was only a few years old when his parents moved to Cumberland County, Kentucky. Daniel grew to manhood there and, at the age of 26, married LUCY ANN PACE, the daughter of JOHN PACE and NANCY ALEXANDER, on October 20, 1833. John Pace was the son of CAPT. In 1834, Daniel and Lucy moved to Greene County, Illinois and initially settled about one-half mile west of Bradshaw's Mound. Several years later they settled about one mile east of Athensville, Illinois where Daniel purchased some 320 acres of fine farm land. They lived out their lives there. In 1858 they joined the local Baptist Church. About 1870, Lucy began to be afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism and Daniel had to spend much of his time caring for her. Their youngest son, Daniel Webster managed the farm.

In October 1883, Daniel and Lucy celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Seven of their eleven children were still alive at the time and all attended the celebration. All of them lived in the local area except Samuel who was living in Sodorus, Champaign County, Illinois at the time. The children presented Daniel with a gold-headed cane and Lucy with a pair of gold spectacles as a token of their love.

Daniel died on March 18, 1886 and Lucy died about ten years later on June 11, 1896. Both are buried at the Rhodes Cemetery near Athensville, Illinois.

Daniel Smith
(1807-1886)

STEPHEN SMITH (Son of Daniel and Rachel Packwood Smith)

Stephen was born in Patrick County, Virginia on May 22, 1809. When he was about 1 year old his parents moved to Cumberland County, Kentucky. Stephen grew to manhood there. As a young man, he was engaged in building flatboats on the Cumberland River in Kentucky and then piloting them, loaded with tobacco, corn, fowls, bacon, livestock and the like, to the most available market in New Orleans, Louisiana.

On September 13, 1836, Stephen married SARAH MARTIN PACE near Burksville, Cumberland County, Kentucky. Sarah was the daughter of JOHN MARTIN PACE and NANCY ALEXANDER. She was a sister to Lucy Ann who married Stephen's brother Daniel. Sarah (Sally) was born in Cumberland County, Kentucky on February 22, 1816.

Stephen, Sarah and their two children, as well as Stephen's father and some sisters, moved to Greene County in 1840. They settled 9 miles east of White Hall, Illinois. Stephen obtained government land and they lived there many years. During their later years they moved to Whitehall and lived on South Main Street.

On September 13, 1886, Stephen and Sarah celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their home in Whitehall. Seventy three relatives and friends attended the celebration. The spacious grounds and pleasant shade made the surroundings all that could be desired and dinner was served in the yard. At 12:45, ELDER B. B. HAMILTON made a talk, giving a sketch of Stephen and Sarah's lives and ancestry. In speaking about Stephen's ancestors, the following statement was made,

> "Stephen Smith was born in Patrick County, VA May 23, 1809. His father's name was John, born in Henry County, VA April 13, 1781. The name of John's father was Daniel, also a native of Virginia. Daniel had four brothers whose names were John, Peter, Thomas and Fleming. These five brothers were all Virginians and when the Revolutionary War came on, they all enlisted on the American side. It so happened that they were all engaged in the battle of Cowpens, fought in South Carolina, January 17, 1781. Peter being on picket was the first to fire in that memorable battle."

The article was subsequently published in the Whitehall newspaper. See PART 5, page 333 for a similar article.

Stephen died on February 15, 1891 and Sarah died August 29, 1896. They are buried in the Union Cemetery in Greene County.

PART 4-CHAPTER 4-5 - JAMES SMITH (SON OF THOMAS SMITH)

James Smith, son of Thomas and Elizabeth Fleming Smith, was born in Prince William County, Virginia on June 9, 1751. James grew to manhood in Virginia. The earliest record of James is where he, his father, and brother Charles, signed a petition of Prince William County Baptists to the Virginia Assembly requesting that they be allowed to establish a Baptist Church at Occoquan, Virginia near where they lived. This document was signed on May 19, 1776.[1] James would have been 25 years of age at that time. The next record containing James' name is in the inventory and distribution of his father's estate in 1778. It states that James was in South Carolina along with his brothers - Daniel Smith, Thomas Smith and Peter Smith.

James moved to Spartanburg County, South Carolina before 1772. He fought in the Revolutionary War as did his brothers and cousins. He enlisted in Spartanburg County on September 15, 1778 and served in Spartanburg and Union Counties.[2,3] At some point in time he moved to nearby Union County, where he lived the rest of his life.

On October 5, 1832, James applied for a pension for his military service during the Revolutionary War. His pension application (Pension File #S-21977) states:

> "I entered the service about the 15th September 1778 in Spartanburg District South Carolina in Captain John Thomas' Company in Col. Thomas' Regiment as one of the drafted militia to serve against the Indians...And marched to a place between Philip's Blockhouse and the Oconee River [GA] where we remained until our term had expired and was then marched back and discharged. In the year 1780 I joined a company commanded by Major White (acting as Captain) and marched to the Siege of Ninety Six, the Fort being then occupied by Colonel Cruger, with the British and Tory. We remained, besieging the Fort under command of Gen. Greene until reinforced by Colonel or Lord Rees from Charleston...When the Siege was raised by General Greene and were marched home and discharged. I afterwards joined the Company commanded by Major John Ford, acting as Captain under Command of Genl. Pickens and marched to Bacon's Bridge on Ashly River and joined the Army of Genl. Greene; when we were stationed as a check upon the British Army, to prevent them from crossing the city of Charleston. I continued at this place until my term had expired and was finally discharged. I have no documentary evidence of my services. I know of no person who served with me except Captain Hanna and Major William Smith who joined with me and who now live in Spartanburgh District of South Carolina. I do hereby relinquish any claim to a pension or annuity except the present, and declare that my name is not on the pension Roll of the Agency of any State. In answer to the Interagatory put by the Court, I was born in Prince William County, Virginia on the 9th June 1751, as I have been informed, having no Record of my age. I lived in Spartanburgh when I entered the service, and have lived in Union and Spartanburgh ever since the War and now live in Union District. I always served as a draft..."

To place James' military service in greater perspective, it is noted that The British controlled most of South Carolina in 1781. The vital frontier crossroads of Ninety Six were the key to the Carolina back country. Ninety Six was located in Greenwood County, South Carolina, a few miles east of the present town of Greenwood. The British fortified the town and built a star-shaped earthen fort. Beginning on May 22, 1781, a patriot army of Continentals and militia commanded by General Nathanael Greene besieged Ninety Six for some 28 days. The June 18, 1781 unsuccessful final sanguinary assault on the star fort by General Greene's forces was the climax of the siege causing the evacuation of the fort and the subsequent retreat of the British from the Carolina back country. The on-scene attacking patriot forces of approximately 1000 men were under the command of "Light Horse Harry" Lee (father of General Robert E. Lee). The British forces, and some 550 American loyalists, were under the command of Colonel John Cruger.[4]

Private James Smith of Union District, South Carolina participated in this battle as a member of the back country South Carolina militia in Major White's Company of Brig. Gen. Andrew Pickens' Brigade. Of interest is that James' pension application statements disclose that he served for three months commencing September 15, 1778 in Capt. John Thomas' Company of Col. Thomas' Regiment of militia to serve against the Indians, three months at the siege of Ninety Six in 1781, and a third tour of duty for three months in Maj. John Ford's Company of Gen. Pickens' forces at Bacon's Bridge on the Ashley River outside of Charleston.

James married ELIZABETH (surname unknown) and they had six children. Elizabeth died in Union County, South Carolina on December 11, 1810. James subsequently married Mrs. MARTHA HOWARD.[5]

James made his will on January 16, 1839 and died September 11, 1840. Martha died a few months later on November 9, 1840. James' will was recorded in Union County September 25, 1840. He divided his estate amongst his children:

1. John F. Smith - five dollars in addition to what I have given him.
2. Enoch Smith - five dollars in addition to what I have given him.
3. Elizabeth Smith - five dollars in addition to what I have given her.
4. Sarah Smith Eubanks - five dollars in addition to what I have given her.
5. Anna Newton Smith Tolleson - five dollars in addition to what I have given her.
6. Pricilla (Smith) Smith - who now lives with me and renders me all the services in her power in my old age all the remaining part of my estate a tract of land of one hundred and fourteen acres adj. C. S. Meng--Absalon Barnett--James McBride--also stock-furniture etc. Exor: Pricilla Smith. [Union County Will Bk B, pg 271, Box 26, Pk 8][6]

ROCK ISLAND PRISON

The Rock Island Prison was located on a swampy island in the Mississippi River between Davenport, Iowa, and Rock Island, Illinois. The prison consisted of 84 barracks which were constructed in a rough, cheap manner and were little more than shanties. In December 1863, 5,000 Confederate prisoners were delivered to the prison even though it was not completed and when the temperature was 32 degrees below zero. NEWTON ENOCH SMITH was one of those prisoners. The prisoners were immediately beset by a smallpox epidemic that sickened thousands and killed more than 600 within three months. The conditions at the prison received considerable publicity and were improved to some extent. However, by late 1864, the Northern press was calling Rock Island another Andersonville. Of 12,409 men confined there during it's 19-month operation, 1,960 prisoners and 171 guards died from disease. (See SubChapter 3-4-1, pages 296-298 for information on Fort Deleware and other POW Camps.)

PART 5 - THE BATTLE OF COWPENS (NEAR SPARTANBURG, SC)

From a genealogical perspective the Battle of Cowpens, fought on January 17, 1781 a few miles north of Spartanburg, South Carolina, was significant inasmuch as several members of the Spartanburg District SMITH family fought thereat. Of note were PETER SMITH, his brother FLEMING SMITH and possibly his brothers DANIEL, JOHN and THOMAS SMITH. It is known that Peter and Fleming were part of the Spartanburg District Militia under the command of Colonel John Thomas and Lieutenant Colonel Benjamin Roebuck. These Militia units were a part of a larger grouping of Continental and Militia organizations under the command of General Daniel Morgan. Continentals were the national army of the American patriot forces under the overall command of General George Washington. The South Carolina Militia seem to have served one month on and one month off military duty. During the period of January 1781 all the Militia were apparently called to duty.

The Battle of Monmouth, New Jersey, on June 28, 1778, was the last major engagement of the War for Independence in the North. After this battle, the axis of war then shifted to the South (Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia) with an intensity of fratricidal strife heretofore unseen. In essence, there was a civil war contained within a political revolution that was itself a potent cauldron of enmity - all to frequently, quarter was neither given nor requested in a neighbor versus neighbor conflict.

The American revolutionary forces suffered a costly defeat in attempting to recapture Savannah, Georgia in 1779. Then, after the fall of Charleston, South Carolina to the armies of the British Crown in May of 1780, the rebel forces were in a panic. General Lincoln had surrendered some 5,000 troops to the British. This was not only arguably the single greatest military disaster ever endured by the patriot forces, but left virtually the entire Southland destitute of soldiers. This was then followed by their defeat at the Battle of Camden in August of 1780. Although rebel militia overwhelmingly defeated loyalist militia in a most sanguinary battle at King's Mountain, North Carolina in October, this was not viewed at that time with the significance that later generations ascribed. The patriot forces were at their nadir. General Washington then sent General Nathanael Greene to be in overall command of the southern forces and to strategically bring the British forces to bay to reverse this series of military disasters.

Placed in tactical command of one wing of Greene's forces was General Daniel Morgan - who was brought out of semi-retirement. Morgan had served with notable distinction at Saratoga, and was to prove a brilliant choice as the patriot commander at Cowpens. To further add to this constellation of military competence, the South Carolina militia forces were under the command of General Andrew Pickens. In command of slightly over 700 troops composed of some 320 continentals and the rest militia, General Morgan was about to engage in the closest thing that American arms ever came on American soil to accomplishing a Cannae (Hannibal's brilliant victory over the Romans in 216 B.C.). Cowpens is still studied in war colleges and general-staff schools throughout the world.

General Morgan's opponent, the redoubtable cavalryman Lt. Col. Banastre Tarleton, was the commander of the 550-man British legion under the strategic command of Lord Cornwallis. Tarleton had just concluded a series of lightning rapid small unit victories: The battles of Waxhaws, Fishing Creek, and Blackstock. He was at the apex of his military career, and at Cowpens his forces would be augmented to 1100 troops.

Morgan had been in a quandary as to how to respond as his troops withdrew through the Carolina back-country before relentless British pressure. A continually severe problem confronted by patriot commanders was how to manage joint operations of both continentals and militia. Continentals were steadfast long-term well-trained regulars; militia were generally short-term poorly trained but superlative marksmen (at least those in South Carolina) knowledgeable on the forests and Indian tactics and skillful in small unit fights. Morgan understood his troops using each component at what it did best ensuring a brilliant success in battle. This ability was uncommon.

Eventually Morgan elected to make his stand at Hannah's Cowpens - a well known back-country grazing ground consisting of oak and hickory trees with almost no underbrush surrounded by marshy ground that would make it difficult for Tarleton to maneuver his cavalry in flanking movements. In the center of his dispositions was a mildly sloped hill.

Morgan anticipated that when Tarleton's forces arrived on the scene that January 17, 1781 day that they would quickly attack his own forces - and he wished them to so do. In an unusual design for that time, he formed his forces in three lines. He formed the units of Pickens' riflemen militia in a line 150 yards ahead of the continentals who themselves were stationed on the military crest of the sloping hill with their cavalry behind the geographic crest to the rear. Some 200 yards in front of his militia he placed 150 specially chosen expert marksmen as skirmishers concealed in the grass. One of these most forward men would have been Private PETER SMITH of Lt. Col. Benjamin Roebuck's command. It has been written that the first shot fired in the battle was fired by Peter.[1] These men would brace their rifles (they used rifles with their greater range whereas the continentals used muskets and bayonets) against the tree trunks for better accuracy.

As anticipated, Tarleton arrived and immediately ordered a charge by dragoons to remove the skirmishers. The riflemen fired several times and withdrew removing numerous dragoons from their saddles. The American frontier sharpshooters could fire and reload and fire again - up to three times - as they ran, a skill that continually amazed the British. Tarleton then had his infantry form up with his flanks covered by his dragoons, and with his two small artillery pieces booming ordered the advance with instructions to take no prisoners. He felt elated over his anticipated success over the American canaille. It was not to be.

Morgan instructed his troops to give the Indian war "whoop" in response to the British "Hallo" cheer. His riflemen had refiltered back through the woods on the flanks and commenced a deadly fire directed at the British officers. Pickens then ordered his lines of militia not to fire until the advancing British reached "killing distance" or some 50 yards, and then aim first at the officers. When his men fired the requested three rounds before retiring around the continental's flanks, the result was an immediate devastation of the British command structure on the field. Tarleton then blundered by sending 50 horsemen forward to pursue the militia that he mistakenly thought were in an uncontrolled disorder of retreat. They in turn became exposed to an unexpected American dragoon charge which was so violent that the British cavalry broke.

The British infantry had meanwhile advanced on the continental line and were engaged in volley fire. This was the decisive moment of battle as the outnumbered American forces faced down the King's forces. Tarleton, sensing this moment, ordered his Highlanders into line to support his other infantry. This gave him some 700 regulars against the 420 continentals on the military crest. Due to misconstrued orders, several American units began to withdraw causing great confusion. Tarleton thought they were retreating, and Morgan salvaged the situation to great advantage by reforming his continentals on the geographic crest while Pickens led his reformed militia back into battle on the flank of the Highlanders. The British infantry surged forward after the continentals but with a greatly diminished officer corps either dead or wounded. They lost their cohesion. At this moment Pickens' reformed militia caught the Highlanders in a flanking fire. Then Morgan's continentals fired a close range volley and charged the charging British with the bayonet just as the American calvary hit them from the rear. It was all concluded quickly. Panic swept the British as they were shot, bayonetted, ran, or surrendered. Tarleton ordered his cavalry to retrieve the day with a charge - they demurred. Tarleton, after engaging in a free-wheeling sabre duel with the American cavalry commander, then galloped off the field with his remaining 54 troopers. The commander of the Highlanders tendered his sword to General Pickens.

The butcher's bill was only 12 Americans dead, 110 British dead,

62 Americans wounded, and 830 British captured to include some 200 wounded. Tarleton's army had been annihilated in less than an hour. Cornwallis was so devastated that he inadvertently broke his sword when he was told of this disaster to British arms. This was the beginning of the end for what would transpire only nine months later at Yorktown. Into this crucible for the future United States, entered the brothers of our South Carolina back-country Smith family who marched, fought, and bled to achieve our independence.

ENDNOTE

1. During the Revolutionary War Daniel Smith, a brother of Peter, Fleming, Charles and others, moved from Prince William County, Virginia to Henry County, Virginia. Henry County is near the Virginia-North Carolina border. (See PART 4-Chapter 4). Daniel had a large family and his youngest son, John Smith, was born in 1781. In the early 1800's John, who was married and had several young children, moved to Cumberland County, Kentucky. Then in the 1830's when his children were adults, the entire family moved to Greene County, Illinois. One of John's sons was named Stephen Smith. In 1886, Stephen and his wife, Sally Pace, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in the town of their residence - Whitehall, Greene County, Illinois. During the celebration a speech was given which included vignettes of history of the ancestors of Stephen and Sally, and a record of this event was later published in the local newspaper, THE REPUBLICAN. A segment of this record is cited as follows:

> "The fiftieth wedding anniversary of Stephen Smith and Sallie Martin Pace Smith, of this city, was celebrated at their home, on South Main street yesterday.
> Stephen Smith was born in Patrick Co. VA. May 23, 1809. His father's name was John, born in Henry County, VA April 23, 1781. The name of John's father was Daniel, also a native of VA.
> Daniel [Stephen's grandfather] had four brothers whose names were, John, Peter, Thomas, and Flemmon [sic]. These five brothers were all Virginians, and when the Revolutionary War came on, they all enlisted on the American side. It so happened that they were all engaged in the Battle of Cowpens, fought in South Carolina, January 17, 1781. Peter being on picket duty was the first to fire in that memorable battle."

The story about Peter firing the first shot at the Battle of Cowpens was also mentioned during a wedding anniversary in 1913.

Stephen Smith had an older brother named Daniel who had also moved to Greene County, Illinois. Daniel and Stephen married sisters. Daniel had a daughter by the name of Sarah who married William M. Smith (unrelated). Sarah and William celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary in Greene County, Illinois in April 1913. An article was published in the Greenfield, Illinois ARGUS in April 1913 as shown below. The second "Daniel" referred to in paragraph three of the article was Sarah's great grandfather - not her father Daniel.

FROM THE GREENFIELD, IL ARGUS - APRIL 1913

Sixtieth Anniversary.

The sixtieth wedding anniversary of William M. and Sarah M. Smith, of the Waller vicinity, was celebrated at their home on March 30, 1913.

Wm. M. Smith was born in Orange county, Indiana, Jan. 20, 1826. His parents were James and Peninah Smith. James was born in Kentucky and moved to Indiana, where he was married to Peninah Smith July 14, 1825. Of this union eight children were born, two of whom are still living, Wm. M., being the oldest and only son, and Martha A., wife of John P. Smith, deceased. Their parents moved to Greene county in 1831 and settled near Athensville.

Sarah Smith was born Aug. 8, 1836. Her father was Daniel Smith, who was born in Patrick county, Virginia, June 11, 1807; Daniel's father was John Smith, who was born in Henry county, Virginia, April 23, 1781. Daniel had four brothers, John, Peter, Thomas and Flemmon. When the Revolutionary war came on the five brothers enlisted, on the American side. It so happened that they were all engaged in the battle of Cowpens, fought in South Carolina Jan. 17, 1781. Peter, being on picket, was first to fire in that memorable battle. Back of these five brothers the family history is not very clear, although it has been understood that they were of English stock. Daniel was the father of six children, he marrying a Miss Reeves. The youngest son was John, the father of Daniel. John married Rachel Packwoods about 1802. The history of the Packwoods is also of thrilling interest. Rachel's grandfather was captured on Greenbrier river, Virginia, about 1710 and was burned at the stake by the Chillicothe Indians near Chillicothe, O.

William M. and Sarah Smith were united in marriage on the old Daniel Smith homestead, one mile east of Athensville, Ill., at high noon March 30, 1853, by Rev. Geo. W. Reynolds. A remarkable feature of this marriage was that everyone present came on horseback or afoot. Three who were attendants at the wedding were present at the recent anniversary, viz: Robert A. Smith, a brother of Mrs. Smith; Thomas Vandaveer, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Smith, and Martha A. Smith, a sister of Mr. Smith.

They began housekeeping west of Athensville on what is known as the Gas Well farm, but moved to their present residence in 1855, and they continue in remarkably good health. Mr. Smith is 85 and his wife 76. Of this union three children were born, Martha E. Howell, of Chicago, Frederick H. (deceased), and Charles H., of the Greenfield vicinity.

Many who were invited could not attend owing to the bad roads, but about fifty of the relatives and neighbors made their appearance. Dinner was served at a late hour. There were twelve at the bride's and groom's table all of whom were over fifty years of age, after which a younger and hungrier crowd followed. A fine oak library table was presented to the aged couple with the well wishes of all present. Long toward night the guests turned their faces homeward, after wishing Uncle Will and Aunt Sally many more happy years of married life. It is hardly necessary to offer any reflections upon so rare an occasion. The simple facts are more eloquent than anything we might say.

INTRODUCTION

This volume of abstracts includes all deeds found in Deed Books U, V and W, for Spartanburg District. The deeds were recorded between 1827 and 1839, during which time Spartanburg was a District. This time period was well before Cherokee County was created from part of Spartanburg County. The earliest recorded deed was executed in 1796. A South Carolina Archives microfilm copy was the basis for the abstracts. Those deeds not completely readable on film were checked at the Registrar Mesne Conveyance in Spartanburg.

Each deed originated in Spartanburg District, unless stated otherwise. Courts and local officials are in Spartanburg District, unless explicitly stated. All places are in South Carolina, unless another state or county is named. Adjacent landowners and natural features are included; metes and bounds are not included.

In the index, the modern spelling is used for rivers, creeks, branches, shoals, etc. Personal names in the index retain literal spellings from the deeds. When searching for a surname, each spelling variant must be checked. Besides personal names and names of corporations, the major index entries are: Brigade Orders, Cemeteries, Creeks and Branches, Places, Rivers, Roads and Streets, Slaves.

In many deeds, a clerk was inconsistent in spelling a name. Some clerks wrote certain letters nearly the same, for example, L and S, I and J. Lower case letters were often alike within the same deed, for example, a, o, and e. The similarities account for many of the variations in spelling of personal names.

The individual named in a dower release was the wife of the grantor, unless another relationship is stated in the abstract.

This book of abstracts is a guide to the original books. Whenever possible, the deed books should be consulted, either on film, or at the Registrar Mesne Conveyance in Spartanburg.

I. PETER SMITH

From the time of the first three boatloads of English immigrants in May of 1607 on the shores of James River in present Virginia to the time our Peter Smith made his will in 1738, settlers had scattered over the coastal plains, the Piedmont Plateau, and had crossed over the Blue Ridge highlands, settling the Valley of Virginia hundreds of miles from the coast. But Peter Smith is in Westmoreland County of the tidal area, bordered by the Potomac and Rappahannock Rivers, the county where George Washington was born in 1732.

Peter willed over a thousand acres of land to his children in Prince William County and an unstated amount to two other children in Westmoreland County, showing he was of the landed gentry. But the heavy immigration into Virginia caused a demand for land and the grandsons of Peter looked to the south and west as their frontiers, many going to South Carolina, at least one to Kentucky.

Peter Smith made his will in Westmoreland Co., Va. 10 Jan. 1738, it being proved 28 April 1741. The complete will follows, but this is a list of his children mentioned and the major bequests to them.

II-4. THOMAS SMITH

Thomas Smith, son of Peter Smith of Westmoreland Co., Va., d. 1778, m. Elizabeth Fleming about 1740 and lived in Prince William Co., Va. near where Washington, D.C. is now located. He was supposed to have been of Welch descent and Elizabeth was French, according to Dr. J. B. O. Landrum in History of Spartanburg County, S.C.

Thomas Smith was a planter in Virginia, his main crops being corn and tobacco. Besides the 325 acres that his father willed to him in 1738, land where Thomas lived at the time, he also leased 133 acres of land from Francis Watts on Bull Run in Prince Wm. Co. in May 1749. The provisions of the lease were for 99 years in consideration of 500 lbs. of tobacco due each Dec. 25th, beginning in 1751. Thomas agreed to build a "sufficient dwelling house and tobacco house and corn house and to plant an apple orchard of 150 trees fenced in and not to make sale or willful waste of timber."

When Thomas died in 1778, the remainder of the lease was sold by his son Charles Smith, executor, for 120 pounds sterling to Alexander Henderson, who at the same time bought a tract of land from Charles for 100 pounds.

Four of Thomas' sons, Daniel, Thomas, Peter, and James, were in S.C. when their father died. Now Charles and John followed them there, also John Gibbs who had married their sister. Also in 96 Dist. S.C. were cousins Handcock and William Smith, sons of Wm. Smith, brother to Thomas.

The Battle of Cow pens was an American victory during the American Revolution. On Jan. 17, 1781, Brig. Gen. Daniel Morgan, with about 1,000 men, met a British force of 1,100 under Col. Banastre Tarleton at the Cow Pens, north of present Spartanburg, South Carolina

Gen. Nathanael Greene, on assuming command of the Continental army in the South, where the British under Lord Cornwallis were making substantial gains, decided to take the offensive. To move against Cornwallis' flanks, he divided his army, sending one detachment southeast and another southwest. From Charlotte, North . Carolina., Morgan marched 58 miles (93 km) southwest and camped by the Pacolet River on Dec. 25, 1780, with about 1,690 men. Cornwallis sent Tarleton with about 1,040 men to engage Morgan.

Morgan took a position near Hannah's Cow pens between the Pacolet River and Thickety Creek. He placed his main force on two hills. In front of them he deployed a line of riflemen and a line of 300 militia. On the morning of January 17, Tarleton attacked. He pushed back the two front lines but suffered losses. While the patriot militia withdrew by a prearranged route, the British, sensing victory, charged the American line on the first hill. They were routed by the Maryland and Delaware Continentals.

Tarleton escaped, but at least 600 of his men were killed, wounded, or captured. Morgan had won a momentous victory with minor losses. The British campaign in the South was seriously affected. A portion of the field is now the Cow pens National Battlefield Site.

John Smith was drafted into service in Burke County, NC and served in the militia under Captain Mordecai Clarke. He fought in the Battle of Cow pens, SC, under the command of General Daniel Morgan. The Battle of Cow pens is now considered to be one of the most influential battles of the Revolutionary War in the South.
The lower South became the decisive theatre of the Revolutionary War. After the struggle settled into stalemate in the north, the British mounted their second campaign to conquer the region.

British expeditionary forces captured Savannah in late 1778 and Charleston in May 1780. By late that summer, most of South Carolina was pacified, and a powerful British army under Cornwallis was poised to sweep across the Carolinas into Virginia.

The southern campaign opened at Charleston in August 1780 when Cornwallis marched north to confront General Horatio Gates moving south with a Continental army. It ended at Yorktown in October 1781 with Cornwallis's surrender of the main British army in America. In between were 18 months of some of the hardest campaigning and most savage fighting of the war.

BATTLE AT COW PENS
January 17, 1781

Americans engaged: 800 - 1000
12 killed, 60 wounded

British engaged: 1,100
100 killed, 229 wounded,
about 600 captured

John Smith was one of the 120 men of the North Carolina militia positioned as sharpshooters in front of the battle line who fired the first volley of the battle. John "Dutch" Smith fought throughout the battle without relief. This battle led to the devastating defeat of the British regular troops under the command of General Banastre Tarleton. A stunning victory for General Daniel Morgan and his men, Cow pens provided a tremendous boost for the morale of the Americans, especially the southern patriots.

Thomas Smith

Thomas Smith was born and reared in the southern part of WestmoreUland County. It is believed that his date of birth was between 1700 and 1710. This is based on the birth date of Elizabeth, his wife, and the birth of their children, the first of whom appears to have been born about 1740.Thomas married Elizabeth Fleming.of Richmond County, Virginia. Richmond County lies along the western side of Westmoreland County. Elizaabeth, born February 18, 1710, was the daughter of Alexander Fleming and Sarah Kennedy Fleming, Elizabeth's parents married in 1691. Elizabeth's mother, Sarah, was the daughter of John Kennedy of Rappahannock County. Elizabeth's father, Alexander, died a few months after she was born. When Thomas' father, Peter Smith, made his will in 1738, Thomas and Elizabeth were living in Prince William County, Virginia on the 325 acres of land subsequently left to him in his father's will. This land was a part of the 1160 acres of land that Peter patented in 1712. When Fairfax County was formed from Prince William County in 1742, the land was in Fairfax County.In 1747, Thomas sold his land to Daniel Jennings:This Indenture made the fourteenth day of April 1747 between Thomas Smith of Truro Parish in Fairfax County, planter, & Daniel Jennings of same ... for the sum of one hundred pounds current money of Virginia ... sells 325 acres ... which Peter Smith, father of said Thomas, by his last will and testament dated the 10th day of January 1738, did give & bequeath unto his son, Thomas Smith ... being part of 1160 acres granted ... to Peter Smith bearing date 30th June 1712 which said 325 acres of land is where the said Thomas Smith now dwelleth at Bull run adjoining to the land of his Brother, James ... In presence of Robt. Wicklift, Leonard Dozer, Robt. Lindsy, James Smith, John X Cavener. Signed Thomas Smith. 21 July 1747 ... Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Smith relinquished her right of dower.The same day Elizabeth relinquished her dower, Thomas borrowed five hundred pounds current Virginia money from Daniel Jennings. On 22 October 1747, Daniel Jennings paid Thomas the one hundred pounds for the 325 acres of land.In 1749, Thomas leased 133 acres of land for 99 years, across Bull Run Creek in Prince William County. The lease is shown on the following page.This Indenture made this 22nd day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and forty nine Between Francis Watts of the County of Prince William of one part and Thomas Smith of the aforesaid County of the other part Witnesseth that said Francis Watts doth agree with said Thomas Smith for the Fee Rent of Five hundred pounds of tobacco doth Lease farm lett and make over to the said Thomas Smith a parcel of land for the space of Ninety nine years being in the County of Prince William on Bull Run and bounded Beginning at a marked Beech thence South East to a Spanish Oak Corner tree thence No. East to Bull Run thence up the said Run to the beginning the same containing One hundred and Thirty three acres of land and the said Thomas Smith doth agree to build a suffishen dwelling house and tobacco house and Corn house and to plant an Apple Orchid of one hundred and fifty trees and to keep them under good fence in good repare and not make wilfull waste of the Timber and the rent to become due on the twenty fifth day of December yearly after the first three years is compleated and not to be straneable until three months after same shall become dew and to be payed in one Note at some convenient Warehouse every year and the first rent to become dew the twenty fifth of December in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty one. As Witness I have set my hand and seale in presence of John Combs. Signed. Francis Watts.In 1766, Thomas, Elizabeth and other members of their family were part of a group of sixty-one people who moved their membership from the Broad Run Baptist Church in Fauquier County, Virginia to establish the Chappawamsic Baptist Church in Stafford County, Virginia. In 1776, Thomas, two of his sons, and other individuals petitioned the Virginia Legislature to establish a Baptist Church at Occoquan, Virginia, near their home. The Smiths listed in the petition were: Thos. Smith, James Smith and Charles Smith.[10]He died 12 September 1778 Prince William, Virginia. Thomas died in Prince William County, where he lived, in 1778. He did not leave a will but an inventory and distribution of the estate is quite detailed in describing his possessions and naming his wife and children. An extract of Thomas' inventory and its distribution, as recorded in Price William County, Virginia Will Book "G", p. 18-19 is shown below:

GENERATIONS 6 TO 7

JOHN H. FINCH
TO WILLIS FINCH

FOR SUPPLEMENTS ON

JOHN KENNEDY,

ALEXANDER FLEMING,

AND PETER SMITH

GENERATIONS 6 to 7:- John H. Finch to Willis Finch for ancestors John Kennedy, Alexander Fleming, and Peter Smith (Please Note: Generations 6 to 7 for Gabriel Bobo and Thomas Spencer do not involve John and Willis Finch):

1850 Census – Campbell Co., GA [Attachment 1]
Line 28 Willis Finch, age 42, born SC
Line 29 Elizabeth Finch, age 35, born SC
Line 30 John H. Finch, age 13, born
Line 34 Seney Finch, age 5, born GA
Line 35 George Finch, age 2, born GA

1860 Census – Calhoun Co., AL [Attachment 2]
Line 2 Willis Finch, age 52, born SC
Line 3 Elisabeth Finch, age 45, born SC
Line 7 Acenith Finch, age 15, born GA
Line 6 George Finch, age 12, born GA
Line 10 John Finch, age 22, born GA
Line 11 Jane Finch, age 20, born SC

These two census records clearly show the same family. Seney Finch in 1850 is Acenith Finch in 1860 , and George Finch is on both censuses. Both have an age appropriate in 1860 to be the same children on the 1850 census. In 1850, John H. Finch is 13 years old. In 1860, John Finch is 22 years old, an age that is appropriate to be the child, John H. Finch, on the 1850 census. In 1860, he and Jane are newly married and living with his parents. Therefore, the preponderance of evidence is that John H. Finch (Generation 6) is the son of Willis Finch (Generation 7).

Chopawamsic Baptist Church Records

Cemetery was located just before the Reservoir a branch to the left that divides into two branches. John`s branch goes somewhat northwest and the Chopawamsic goes somewhat southwest towards Bellfair Rd. Just before the Rd. and north of Chopawamsic close to Tolsons Mill and north of Embrey Chapel Baptist Graveyard is Chopawamsic Primitive Baptist Church and Graveyard. The church was torn down by the government when Quantico was established and the graves were moved to Cedar Run cemetery in Prince William county.

Photos of reburials in Cedar Run cemetery were taken by David E. Cann.

Additional photos of the remains of this cemetery and church are located here

Contributed by: Homer Musselman
The following declaration, copied from the records at the Virginia State Library, was the genesis for the Chopawamsic Baptist Church:

"Here, in the Colony of Virginia firmly desiring to be constituted and established into a distinct church of the same denomination, faith and order and being at our request freely dismissed for that purpose from the church in Fauquier aforesaid. And appears by a letter signed by several members of that congregation ---- date August 9th, 1766. Hoping it may be to the glory of God and our edification, these subscribers in the presence of God solemnly unite as a religious body to worship him, to celebrate his ordinances, to manifest his truth and to promote his honor in the world....."

The declaration concluded:

That all disputes may as far as possible be avoided and peace, concord and unity maintained by the blessing of God for which we pray and in testimony of our union herein we have all set our hand this day of our constitution being the 22nd day of November 1766.

Chopawamsic Baptist Church Records

Cemetery was located just before the Reservoir a branch to the left that divides into two branches. John`s branch goes somewhat northwest and the Chopawamsic goes somewhat southwest towards Bellfair Rd. Just before the Rd. and north of Chopawamsic close to Tolsons Mill and north of Embrey Chapel Baptist Graveyard is Chopawamsic Primitive Baptist Church and Graveyard. The church was torn down by the government when Quantico was established and the graves were moved to Cedar Run cemetery in Prince William county.

The following declaration, copied from the records at the Virginia State Library, was the genesis for the Chopawamsic Baptist Church:

"Here, in the Colony of Virginia firmly desiring to be constituted and established into a distinct church of the same denomination, faith and order and being at our request freely dismissed for that purpose from the church in Fauquier aforesaid. And appears by a letter signed by several members of that congregation ---- date August 9th, 1766. Hoping it may be to the glory of God and our edification, these subscribers in the presence of God solemnly unite as a religious body to worship him, to celebrate his ordinances, to manifest his truth and to promote his honor in the world....."

The declaration concluded:

That all disputes may as far as possible be avoided and peace, concord and unity maintained by the blessing of God for which we pray and in testimony of our union herein we have all set our hand this day of our constitution being the 22nd day of November 1766.

PREFACE

Every book should have a reason for its existence; that for presenting to those who are interested in old Virginia records this volume of abstract wills of Westmoreland County is the hope that the information contained therein will be of great assistance in compiling family records and establishing many historical facts.

A volume of wills of this county was published some years ago, but so many wills were entirely omitted, so many legatees left out and practically no legacies mentioned, aside from many inaccuracies occurring that in attempting to correct a volume of them for my own use, having had a great many requests for corrected information, I found that the only correct way was to make new extracts from the wills of record in order to have accurate working material. I was urged by many contemporaries to publish a new volume in order that others might have the privilege of their use with an expenditure of less time and effort than was necessary in my own case.

The wills in one entire volume, 1665-1677, were entirely omitted, which was particularly unfortunate as those of both John and Lawrence Washington were omitted which left the very beginning of one of our great history-making families to one's imagination. There were a number of similar instances which make it impossible to get any family record as complete as would otherwise be the case. In many of the Virginia counties it was the custom in the very early days to record all records in one volume, so in this instance it was very little more work to make abstracts of deeds of gift while making those of wills; these I entered in a large note-book which is in my files of

The following record, found in Westmoreland County Deeds and Wills, Book No. 3, 1701-7, page 402, states that Peter Smith had a brother James:

"15 June 1684, James Smith of Westmoreland to my brother Peter Smith of Yeocomico, for valuable consideration—100 a. Nominy Forest bought of and adjacent to William Well. Witnessed; Rch. Bruckes, Rch. Belleman." Recorded May 1706.

James Smith, Peter's brother cedes his land to Peter at James' death:

"May 1706. Hannah Breel spouse to Henry Breel of Northumberland County, only daughter and child of the deceased James Smith of Westmoreland County, with the consent of Henry Breel, to Peter Smith – Our interest in the land. Witnesses: John Davidson, Margrett Smith."

The name Peter Smith appears often in the early records of Westmoreland County, witnessing wills, appraising estates, buying land. A second land transaction took place on February 21, 1691, when Peter Smith bought a "parsel of land containing about 60 acres lying on the branches of the Nominy conveyed by… (George Searles) to Peter Smith by indenture 21 February 1691 (1692)." (Order Book 1690-98 (Part 2 1692-94).)

The name of Peter's wife has not been learned, but from his will we know he was the father of ten children: Peter, James, Thomas, William, John, Mary, Abigail, Hannah, Martha, and Anne. His will was dated 10 January 1738; it was probated 28 April 1741; and was recorded 12 May 1741. The will, as recorded, is found here. Peter Smith's will provides some information about his children: who the girls married, where the sons lived, who was deceased at the time he wrote his will. His wife was not mentioned in his will; evidently, she was not living on January 10, 1738.

To his sons James, Thomas and William, Peter Smith of Westmoreland County gave each (in his will) 325 acres of land in Prince William County, Virginia. His will was made in the year 1738; it was probated and recorded in 1741. In 1742 Fairfax County was formed from part of Prince William and Loudoun Counties. The land Peter Smith had left these three sons was now in Fairfax County, in Truro Parish.

Thomas Smith

Originally submitted by Darren Wm Smith to Smith on 17 May 2007

Thomas Smith was born and reared in the southern part of Westmoreland County. It is believed that his date of birth was between 1700 and 1710. This is based on the birth date of Elizabeth, his wife, and the birth of their children, the first of whom appears to have been born about 1740.Thomas married Elizabeth Fleming. of Richmond County, Virginia. Richmond County lies along the western side of Westmoreland County. Elizabeth, born February 18, 1710, was the daughter of Alexander Fleming and Sarah Kennedy Fleming, Elizabeth's parents married in 1691. Elizabeth's mother, Sarah, was the daughter of John Kennedy of Rappahannock County. Elizabeth's father, Alexander, died a few months after she was born. When Thomas' father, Peter Smith, made his will in 1738, Thomas and Elizabeth were living in Prince William County, Virginia on the 325 acres of land subsequently left to him in his father's will. This land was a part of the 1160 acres of land that Peter patented in 1712. When Fairfax County was formed from Prince William County in 1742, the land was in Fairfax County. In 1747, Thomas sold his land to Daniel Jennings: This Indenture made the fourteenth day of April 1747 between Thomas Smith of Truro Parish in Fairfax County, planter, & Daniel Jennings of same ... for the sum of one hundred pounds current money of Virginia ... sells 325 acres ... which Peter Smith, father of said Thomas, by his last will and testament dated the 10th day of January 1738, did give & bequeath unto his son, Thomas Smith ... being part of 1160 acres granted ... to Peter Smith bearing date 30th June 1712 which said 325 acres of land is where the said Thomas Smith now dwelleth at Bull run adjoining to the land of his Brother, James ... In presence of Robt. Wicklift, Leonard Dozer, Robt. Lindsy, James Smith, John X Cavener. Signed Thomas Smith. 21 July 1747 ... Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Smith relinquished her right of dower. The same day Elizabeth relinquished her dower, Thomas borrowed five hundred pounds current Virginia money from Daniel Jennings. On 22 October 1747, Daniel Jennings paid Thomas the one hundred pounds for the 325 acres of land. In 1749, Thomas leased 133 acres of land for 99 years, across Bull Run Creek in Prince William County. The lease is shown on the following page. This Indenture made this 22nd day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and forty nine Between Francis Watts of the County of Prince William of one part and Thomas Smith of the aforesaid County of the other part Witnesseth that said Francis Watts doth agree with said Thomas Smith for the Fee Rent of Five hundred pounds of tobacco doth Lease farm lett and make over to the said Thomas Smith a parcel of land for the space of Ninety nine years being in the County of Prince William on Bull Run and bounded Beginning at a marked Beech thence South East to a Spanish Oak Corner tree thence No. East to Bull Run thence up the said Run to the beginning the same containing One hundred and Thirty three acres of land and the said Thomas Smith doth agree to build a suffishen dwelling house and tobacco house and Corn house and to plant an Apple Orchid of one hundred and fifty trees and to keep them under good fence in good repare and not make wilfull waste of the Timber and the rent to become due on the twenty fifth day of December yearly after the first three years is compleated and not to be straneable until three months after same shall become dew and to be payed in one Note at some convenient Warehouse every year and the first rent to become dew the twenty fifth of December in the year one thousand seven hundred and fifty one. As Witness I have set my hand and seale in presence of John Combs. Signed. Francis Watts. In 1766, Thomas, Elizabeth and other members of their family were part of a group of sixty-one people who moved their membership from the Broad Run Baptist Church in Fauquier County, Virginia to establish the Chappawamsic Baptist Church in Stafford County, Virginia. In 1776, Thomas, two of his sons, and other individuals petitioned the Virginia Legislature to establish a Baptist Church at Occoquan, Virginia, near their home. The Smiths listed in the petition were: Thos. Smith, James Smith and Charles Smith.[10] He died 12 September 1778 Prince William, Virginia. Thomas died in Prince William County, where he lived, in 1778. He did not leave a will but an inventory and distribution of the estate is quite detailed in describing his possessions and naming his wife and children. An extract of Thomas' inventory and its distribution, as recorded in Price William County, Virginia Will Book "G", p. 18-19 is shown

8. Note:

Vincent Cox, early settler, Indian fighter, and progenitor of the Cox family of Westmoreland County, Virginia arrived in the colony in 1649. His descendants spread throughout Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee.

Ancestry of Vincent Cox has not been established, but the most likely parent was Henry Cox who was the father of a Vincent Cox born, 1632, in Bedfordshire, England. This would have made him seventeen years of age when he arrived as an indentured servant. Passage for Vincent Cox to the new England was paid for by William Bulloche. His indenture was sold or assigned by John Pettitt to Richard Cole for four years of service. At the end of his servitude, Vincent Cox, applied for his freedom and it was disputed by Mr. Cole. A lawsuit settled the disagreement in favor of the plaintiff and Vincent Cox was given one cloth coat, one pair of shoes and stockings, one shirt, one hat or cap and three barrels of Indian corn.

A deposition taken at the time of the above court case, established the arrival date of Vincent Cox, as well as the ship he sailed on. According to William Beasley's deposition Vincent Cox came into the colony on a ship called the Honor that came to anchor in Virginia about the 8th or 10th of Oct. last was four years past.

After his release from indentured service, Vincent Cox settled in Cople Parish, on the Yeocomico River. In 1653 Westmoreland County had been formed from Northumberland County, and Vincent Cox's land was in the new county. The surname of Vincent Cox's wife has not been determined. It is generally felt that her surname was Charnock or Charnock. This name is continued throughout the descendants of Vincent Cox. They raised a family of three sons; Charnock, Vincent, Jr., and Thomas; and three daughters, Ann, Martha and Elizabeth who married into some of the prominent families of Northumberland and Westmoreland at that time.

Vincent Cox was granted considerable acreage in Northumberland and Westmoreland Counties in 1661, 1662 and 1665. In 1672, he sold land granted to him, 27 Sep 1667, to George Lamkin and his wife, Hannah of Yeocomico Parish. This land was on a branch falling into the Nominy River in Mr. Clay's line at head of a branch falling into Yeocomico River.

Records show that he saw service in the Indian Wars of 1675 to 1682. An allotment to the soldiers at the Potomac Fort was ordered to go to Mr. Vincent Cox at Yeocomico. He was ordered to supply a horse as head of his "forty", 28 Jan 1680.

On 25 June 1691, Vincent Cox was ordered to answer a petition filed by the Nanziatikor Indians on behalf of William King, who was a servant of Vincent Cox. The petition stated; "In an Indian War sixteen years ago, a young Indian was taken prisoner and has lived as a servant of Mr. Cox's house."

The Will of Vincent Cox, filed 5 Jul 1698 and probated 26 Oct 1698 in Westmoreland County, Virginia left the following bequeaths to his children. His wife was apparently dead at the time since no provision was made for her. To his oldest son, Charnock, he left 300 acres of land, silver , etc. His three daughters, Martha, Ann, and Elizabeth were listed but no specified bequeaths were named. To his son and namesake, Vincent, he left the home plantation, 340 acres of land, silver, etc. No mention was made of his son, Thomas, in his will. He was underage, which is proven by his appearance in court, 20 Jun 1700. He chose John Redman to be his guardian. Thomas Cox's sister, Ann, was the second wife of John Redman of Westmoreland County, Virginia.

Charnock Cox, Sr., the oldest son of Vincent Cox, and wife, married Mary Presley, daughter of Peter Presley, Sr. and his wife, Elizabeth Thompson. Peter Presley was the son of William Presley and Jane Newman of Northumberland County, Virginia. Elizabeth Thompson was the daughter of Richard Thompson and Ursula Bysshe. Charnock Cox, Sr. and Elizabeth Thompson Cox had the following children: Charnock Cox, Jr., Col. Presley Cox, William Cox, Peter Cox, Molly, a
